The 'Miss S.M. County' Title To Barbara Sams

By BARBARA BLADEN

Barbara Sams of South San Francisco entered the Miss San Mateo County Pageant on Saturday night with one title and left with two. As "Homecoming Queen" of College of San Mateo 1966, the 18-year-old blonde claimed the title "Miss San Mateo County" by virtue of looks, presentation and talent.

Stanley Noonan, master of ceremonies, kept the polished production moving at a melodic pace with songs written specially for the annual competition.

His vocal assistants were Dorothea Lester, second runner-up of 1966 and Karin Marie Sainsbury, Miss San Mateo County, whose reign terminated this night.

Audiences at the Little Theater College of San Mateo campus and television viewers of KCSM-TV witnessed a parade of 13 poised young contestants which was climaxed by a selection of five finalists.

Singled out by the five-member panel of judges were Kathy Earnham, Lorraine Grant, Candy Troy and Judy Ambler, fourth to first runner-up respectively. The coveted crown went to Barbara Sams after a talent show in which she performed a tap dance, "Boogie Woogie."

A unanimous shout of jubilation from the participating contstants as they swarmed around the new "Queen" showed them to be in accord with the voting as the lights of the television cameras went off at the conclusion of the two night event.

The evening brought triumph to several girls. Dianna Smith scored highest in Swim Suit category and Vera GrGurevic was San Francisco, her boy friend accorded the highest points in Evening Gowns. It was a double tribute to Candy Troy, Miss Pacifica, that she was also voted "Miss Congeniality" by the contestants for her help and friendship to them during the months preceding the final contest.

The county's official beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grove of South San Francisco. She has studied dancing for 11 years, first with the Betty May Studio in San Francisco and currently is under scholarship to the Schumacher Studio of South San Francisco. Barbara was personally coached in pageant procedures by Dolly Schumacher who won the Miss South San Francisco title in 1962 and was first runner-up in the County Contest for 1963 and 1964.

Among the first fans to bestow a kiss on the pretty winner was Robert Martinelli of South and a student at San Francisco State College. They received a hearty round of applause upon arrival at the midnight buffet staged for pageant officials and participants at the Hillsdale Inn by Fred Williams, the manager.

A psychology major at CSM, Barbara is also talented in art, sports and was runner-up in the 1966 Miss South San Francisco contest, she is a member of Sinawik Club and the Activity Honor Society.

Christy Ganas, Miss San Mateo County of 1963 was television hostess. Jack Fisher's orchestra provided musical accompaniment. The talent program was mostly musical this year with three pianists and one organist competing against five dancers and one singer.

The winner of the tenth annual San Mateo County pagenat will compete in the Miss California pageant which is held in Santa Cruz.

Crestmoor Principal Is Picked

George F. Kristovich, assistant principal at Hillsdale High School, was named the new principal of Crestmoor High School by trustees of the San Mateo Union High School District Thursday night. Kristovich replaces David Studebaker, who is going on sabbatical leave next year and has asked for reassignment upon his return.

The trustees also appointed Bernard H. Archbold, vocational specialist in the district's Know and Care Center, as assistant principal at Aragon High school, a new position authorized for schools of 1,800 students or more. Both appointments are effective July 1.

Kristovich joined the San Mateo district in 1948 as a teacher of English and Latin at San Mateo, and in 1952 became a counselor at that school. He moved to Hillsdale High School as counselor in 1955, and three years later was appointed Dean of Boys. In 1965, when the trustees authorized the position of assistant principal for schools of 1,800 or more, Kristovich became the district's first assitant principal at Hillsdale.

Archbold came to the district in 1956 in the business education department at Hillsdale, and moved to Crestmoor High School when that school opened in 1962, where he was head of the business department. When

Dispute Over Car Wash Flares Anew

The car wash battle flared anew at a study session of the Daly City Council Monday night.

Attorney Robert Hunter, representing Ross E. Schendel of the M & R Car Wash on Sullivan Avenue, charged that the city was responsible for hampering his client's business activities because of an ordinance passed last month.

The new ordinance governs the use and operation of coin-operated car washes in the city.

PICK UP

Hunter asked the council to amend certain sections of the ordinance pertaining to hours of operation.

"We are surrounded by a gasoline station, a scavenger office building and the Pacific Telephone company. The only resident of the area has never complained about this operation," Hunter explained.

He said the car wash has complied with all existing city ordinances, however the "hours of operation" stipulation in the new law will cost his client "a substantial sum of money."

Daly City Files Annual Report

The city of Daly City has given a full report on its finances and progress in a formal summary appearing in this issue of the Post.

The report will be found on pages 22 and 23.

LED TO SAFETY—Three teen-age visitors who became dangerously marooned high on quarry walls in Daly City are led to safety by veteran police officer, Charles Munday after rescue by firemen and police.

Council Mulls Florence St. Assessment

The Daly City Council Monday night mulled the problem of establishing an assessment district on Florence Street.

Although most residents along the street want the assessment district in so that needed improvements can be made, some 47 per cent of the adjacent property is owned by the Jefferson Elementary School District (Vista Grande School).

The Jefferson School District has indicated to the city they want no part of the $25,000, block-long assessment district.

A clear majority of landowners — at least 60 per cent — must agree to the assessment district before it can proceed.

Assessment district improvements are paid for by adjacent property owners, those who derive the most benefits from these improvements.

The council could start proceedings now by adopting applicable resolutions declaring their intent to form the assessment district.

If the school district did not present a formal protest on the matter during subseqeunt hearings the improvement project would proceed.

S.S.F. Overpass Study Is Ordered

South San Francisco councilmen instructed City Engineer Louis Goss to meet with contractors and "discuss the feasibility of installing a pedestrian overpass instead of the proposed traffic signals" at the Westborough-Callan Boulevard and Oakmont Drive intersection Monday.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli and councilmen ordered a study of the expressway intersection after receiving a petition signed by 800 residents of the Westborough district.

Mrs. Robert Rugero, of 36 Escanyo Drive, told councilmen present plans prepared by the San Mateo County engineer's office call for a signal system which would "allow children only 30 seconds to cross a 95-foot expressway, and result in their being stranded in the neutral zone.'

Councilmen said a special study session will be held with residents of the area when the city receives the county engineer's plans on the intersection.

"I feel we should act now to prevent another situation like the one we have had at the Junipero Serra-Clay Avenue intersection," Mrs. Rugero said.

Goss said the county engineer's plans indicate only a traffic signal system at the intersection, but the city will have an opportunity to revise the plans when they are presented for approval.

Trio Rescued From D.C. Quarry Perch

Youngsters Attempt To Scale Slope

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Three Modesto teenagers clung to a rocky shelf some 1,000 feet above the floor of an abandoned Daly City quarry for more than an hour Monday as rescuers gingerly picked their way down the steep slope to their aid.

The trio had been attempting to climb the sheer face of the rock quarry, located on the north side of San Bruno Mountain, when they "froze" less than 100 feet from the top.

One of the boys, Tim Bracco, received a nasty puncture wound on the left hand from a sharp rock and was given first aid by firemen on the scene.

Bracco, along with two companions — Rod Hoover and Tim Giddens — are participants in

Alter Decision: Incinerator Use Permit Rejected

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco councilmen reversed an earlier decision of the Planning Commission Monday night, and denied a use permit for a proposed $2 million garbage incinerator plant in the city's industrial park area.

Councilmen voted unanimously to deny the permit after attorneys for the city's Industrial Park Association said the proposed plant would be "incompatible with surrounding businesses."

Neighboring firms have contested issuance of the use permit requested by the South San Francisco Scavenger Company for more than two months on "aesthetic grounds," and the firm has reportedly selected an alternate site.

The originally proposed site for the "solid waste incinerator plant" is located at the northwest corner of Mitchel Avenue and Harbor Way.

Planning commissioners approved the use permit December 27, over objections from a number of neighboring concerns.

In other business Monday, the council adopted a resolution authorizing execution of an agreement for construction of tennis courts and other improvements at the Orange Avenue Memorial Park, and issued a proclamation designating March 27-31 "community appreciation week."

Thugs Drag, Rob Woman In Daly City

Two young thugs knocked an elderly Chinese woman to the ground Monday in Daly City and ran off with her purse containing some $70 in cash—her weekly salary.

Mrs. May Gee, of 423 Niantic Avenue, suffered shoulder and face injuries when she hung onto the purse and was knocked to the sidewalk.

The pair dragged Mrs. Gee screaming for several yards before she let go of the purse.

Mrs. Gee had been paid only hours before and intended to deposit her money in a bank early this morning.

The strongarm robbery, latest in a series of similar incidents plaguing Daly City police, occurred in front of 369 Knowles Avenue — less than three blocks from Mrs. Gee's home — at 7 p.m.

'Back to Farm' Plan?

The South San Francisco Unified School District is apparently undertaking a "back to the farm" program.

City Planner Daniel Pass said today the district has requested a temporary use permit to establish a truck farm on an eight-acre site at the northeast corner of Chestnut Avenue and Tamarack Lane.

The plot, which is not presently in use, is on lands of the Parkway Junior High School in an R-1 (residential) district.

Pass said school officials plan to lease the land to a grower. He has recommended approval of the use permit request.

the annual Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition at the Daly City Cow Palace, along with approximately 1,000 other youths from throughout the state.

After finishing their chores Monday, several boys decided to explore the surrounding Cow Palace area. While most of the youths climbed to the top of the mountain by way of a trail, the trio elected to "take the bull by the horns" and go straight up the rock face of the quarry.

As they reached an outcropping, the boys discovered they were trapped and started yelling for help. Other boys raced back down the mountain and alerted rescuers.

Three units from a nearby Daly City fire station responded to the emergency call and lowered ropes to the outcropping.

A light rain began falling as firemen Frank Reagan, Charles Rivera and Robert Jacobs slowly groped their way to the side of the scared boys.

One by one the boys were hauled to the top of the mountain and led to the quarry floor via the trail.

For more than an hour, dozens of the boys' friends watched from the quarry floor as the dramatic rescue scene unfolded high above them.

Officer Charles Munday said one slip would likely mean certain death to the boys or the rescuers on the jagged rocks below the outcropping.

Asked why they tried to scale the quarry wall, Bracco replied: "I don't know . . . it seemed like a fun thing to do at the time."

Would he try to climb the mountain again.

"I won't. And that's for sure," the shaken youngster answered.

Teen Toughs Take Dollar From DC Boy

A gang of teen-age toughs stopped a 13-year-old youth on Hillside Boulevard in Daly City Saturday night and robbed him of $1 before fleeing.

The unidentified boy was on his way home shortly after 9 p.m. when he was confronted by seven boys also in their early teens.

After threatening him, the youths grabbed his money and fled, the boy told police.

Joyrider Is Subdued

A Pacific busboy, only four months out of reform school for "joyriding," was subdued atfer a wild chase in Half Moon Bay Sunday afternoon during which the stolen car he was driving collided with three other autos.

Miraculously, neither the young driver nor his three terrified girl passengers were injured.

Highway Patrolman Ben Donahue said he was forced to slug the boy with his gun in order to subdue him as the youth struggled to get away after the third crash.

Donahue said he first saw the stolen car, driven by Dennis R. Yorks, 19, of 416 Glasgow Drive, Pacifica, when it "burned rubber" going around a corner in Half Moon Bay. During the ensuing chase, the officer reported, Yorks forced several other cars off of the streets. At one point the car hit a traffic island and parts started falling off and hit several other autos.

The officer said the chase got up to 100 miles an hour at times.

Eventually, Yorks left the main part of town and headed east on Half Moon Bay Road, with Donahue in pursuit.

On a curve, the stolen car crossed the center line and sideswiped a westbound car driven by Gerard Landry, 30-year-old ROTC instructor at USF. Landry, of 4173 Callan Boulevard, Daly City, tried unsuccessfully to get out of the way.

Yorks kept going and about three-fourths of a mile up the road hit a convertible driven by Alvin Gallagher, 35-year-old Mountain View electronics designer. Gallagher said he saw the car coming through his rear-view mirror and "headed for the ditch" but was unable to get out of the way.

One hundred yards further, the stolen car rammed the rear of an eastbound station wagon driven by George W. Perry, 56-year-old Oakland school custodian. Perry said the car bounced off and then hit his auto on the side, almost causing it to overturn.

At that point, Donahue reported, the stolen cur was so badly damaged that it came to a stop. Donahue walked up with his gun drawn. Yorks was still trying to get the car started, hs reported.

Donahue fired a shot into the air and, when Yorks continued to try to get the car star reached into the auto to tr subdue him.

Yorks struggled and Dona hit him on the side of the head with the barrel of his gun, then pulled him from the car, subdued him and got handcuffs on him.

Yorks, who admitted that he stole the car in Redwood City, was first taken to County General Hospital for treatment of his injuries, then was booked at county jail on charges of auto theft, reckless driving, hit-run driving, having no driver's license, and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The girls, two 17 and one 16, were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

The stolen car was owned by John H. Berglund of 1024 Sycamore Drive, Millbrae.

Ask Truck Ban On Expressway

Representatives of the Rancho Buri Buri Homeowners Association requested that the new Westborough Expressway not be designated a truck route Monday night.

Donald Gamma, president of the association, and secretary Mrs. Jack Ortner asked the City Council t "prevent the project from becoming an even greater nuisanace" by strictly regulating traffic.

Mayor Bertucelli and Police Chief John Fabbri said the city will have authority to impose traffic regulations on the portion of the expressway within the city.

Councilmen said a special study session will be held with the Westborough homeowners after final plans for the road are received from the county engineer.

CAC Will Elect Officers

The Daly City Commnunity Action Council will elect officers at a meeting Thursday night in the Carol Room of the War Memorial Building.

Officers elected will represent the city in war on poverty programs and other city and county activities.

The Thursday meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Two Women Injured In Auto Crashes

Two North County women were injured in separate crashes over the weekend; in one crash, another driver was cited.

An elderly woman was slightly injured in a two-car crash on Westmoor Avenue in Daly City shortly after 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Louise K. Gabb, 60, of 89 Crestline Drive, was riding as a passenger in a car driven by her daughter, Ondina B. Gabb, 33, also of 89 Crestline Drive at the time of the accident, police report.

According to investigators, the Gabb car was hit by a passing vehicle driven by Claire E. Tafralis, 30, of 3040 Muirfield Avenue, San Bruno.

Mrs. Gabb was treated for a laceration on the face at Mary's Help Hospital and released.

A 38-year-old Daly City housewife suffered possible back injuries when her car was rammed from behind at a stop signal on Mission Street in downtown Daly City Sunday morning.

Police said Grace Rodrigues, of 202-A School Street, Daly City, was treated and released at Mary's Help Hospital following the early morning accident.

Driver of the second car, Robert C. Holzapfel, 44, of 7301 Mission Street, Daly City, was arrested and charged with drunk driving, police report.

Holzapfel allegedly told police his car smashed into the Rodrigues car when his brakes failed while preparing to stop at the signal.

Five Chairs Stolen From A Restaurant

Someone made off with five heavy chairs from the Longtable restaurant, Albert Rosenburg told Pacifica police Saturday.

Valued at $15 each, the five wooden chairs, with leather seats and backs had been set near a doorway in the dining area.

They had been last noticed at 10 p.m.

Rosenburg told police the chairs were too heavy to put in a standard car, theorizing that a bar customer or passerby had reached in the doorway and loaded them into a pickup.

2nd Pacifica Bike Rodeo Due April 8

Pacifica's Second Annual Bicycle Safety Week and Bike Rodeo's are here. This year the bike rodeo will be the highlight of what is hoped to be an all-out effort to stress bicycle safety to parents, children and youth who participate in the activity of bike riding.

The preliminary event is scheduled for April 8 at all city playground areas.

The events will start at 9:30 a.m. with the bicycle safety inspection headed by the Pacifica reserve unit and the police explorer unit. After the safety inspection, bicycles and their riders will be taken through the paces of the skill and safety events designed by Officer Frank Fenlon of the California Highway Patrol.

The events include safe riding skills and basic traffic laws for bicycles incorporated into a rodeo format.

Winners of the playground rodeo's will then have an opportunity to participate in the city-wide bike rodeo finals set for Saturday, April 15 starting at 10:11 a.m.

In addition to the city-wide finals a grand prize drawing will take place. A new bicycle will be awarded to one of the boys or girls who has participated in the bicycle rodeo the previous Saturday.

Fifth Week Hunch Play

Adult Hunch Basketball League action, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, swung into fifth week action with wins going to the Duds, Playboys, Wildcats, Golden Gators and J. C. Penney's of Westlake.

The Duds won their fifth game without a defeat when they took the measure of the Sorry Bout That crew, 41-15. Mike Kennedy was high for the winners with 21 points. Mike Bryant of Sorry Bout That hit for 12, far below his average, but good enough to maintain second place for individual scoring honors. Bryant has a total of 101 points in five games. Ed Larios of the Golden Gators continues to hang on to first place with 131 points.

A 40-26 victory went to the Daly City Playboys over the Warriors. Roy Reitz put on a one-man show while tanking 27.

MISSES GAMES

Fullback Bob Apisa missed two games and most of a third but led Michigan State in scoring last season with nine touchdowns for 54 points.

Westmoor's Track Team Wins Meet

Fourth Year For the Ram

Despite the rain and cold, Westmoor won the North Peninsula League track and field relays for the fourth straight year. The Rams ran up a total of 179 points and took first in the Varsity and B divisions.

A tight meet all the way, South San Francisco was second, trailing Westmoor by only three points, 58-55, in the varsity scores. El Camino came in third with 34 points, trailed by Oceana, Terra Nova, Jefferson and Half Moon Bay.

Westmoor's varsity took three firstplaces. In the mile relay, the team of Jerry Palmer, Tom Torlakson, Mike Clabby, and Tom Tufo gained a first.

Jerry Palmer and Tom Torlakson returned to join forces with Bob Lopez and Jim Torlakson to take first away from the supposed winner, El Camino, in the medley. A new NPL record of 10.53.7 was set, which beat the old mark by six-tenths of a second. The team of Chuck Johnston, Mike Tufo and Don Weiden won a first in pole vault.

Wesmoor varsity runners took second in the 2-mile relay, the 880, shot put, discus throw, high jump, and long jump.

In the B division, Westmoor trounced all contenders with a score of 70 to El Camino's 41. The B's set two new league records, in the mile with 3:40.6 and the 880 with 1:39.2.

Jefferson's C's defeated Westmoor 62-51, but the Rams set two NPL records in the distance medley (12:05) and the 880 (1:40.3).

Over-all scores of the relays placed Westmoor 85 points ahead of Jefferson, 190-105.

Jacobs Star In Cap Win

Doug Jacobs clocked a 24.7 in the 50-yard freestyle and added a win in the 100-yard freestyle to highlight Capuchino High School's 68-18 victory over Burlingame High School in a Mid-Peninsula League swim meet yesterday.

Other double winners for Capuchino were Pete Verity and Steve Deferville.

Dan Nessi and Peter Vallance scored doubles in the frosh-soph meet to lead Capuchino to a 47-30 victory.

Tourney At T-N

Le Pacini

If you're a baseball fan who can't wait until Candlestick begins its assault on the Giants, and have a little Easter season time to kill, you could do worse than checking out the first annual Terra Nova High School Easter Baseball Tournament which began yesterday at the Terra Nova and Oceana fields.

There are eight teams in the tournament, and tomorrow at 2:30 they'll be down to the two who will play off for the tourney title at Terra Nova.

As we write this, of course, the tournament has yet to begin, so to make predictions we'd be sticking our typewriter out, since our choice might have already been eliminated yesterday. Tournament director Al Figone, Terra Nova's baseball coach, figured the favorites to be Salesian, Capuchino, Oceana, and Crestmoor (the other four teams are Terra Nova, El Cerrito, Lincoln of San Francisco, and Novato).

ALTHOUGH Figone was too modest to mention it, his Tigers are definite darkhorses. They're green, but they've played surprisingly well thusfar in their practice season. It would, of course, be a tournament director's dream if the Great Rivals, Terra Nova and Oceana, were to meet for that title tomorrow. And it's very possible.

★ ★ ★

JUST for the record, the NBA playoff system is ridiculous, if you haven't already figured it out for yourself. In what other professioal league do you make the playoffs merely by virtue of staying out of last place?

Another pro basketball freak is the fan who rationalizes his dislike of Rick Barry (the bigger and greter you get, the less you're appreciated — right Willie Mays?) because of Barry's relatively low field goal shooting percentage.

"Sure he's leading the league," say the beer-bellies, "look at all the shots he takes. Why, the cry baby ain't even in the first 10 in shooting percentage."

Okey, fellas. To begin with, you'd cry a little, too, if you had every hatchet man in the league out to get you. And then don't forget that Barry gets paid to shoot a lot, and they pay him to shoot a lot because high salaried scouts who make their living are properly evaluating players long ago determined that Barry was one helluva shooter.

FINALLY, and most important, the top ten field goal percentage men are generally either dunkers like Chamberlain — and you can hardly call that "shooting" — or people like Al Attles (and we don't mean to belittle Attles, who's a fine player, a great defensive man; yes, a good shooter) who seldom shoot and even then wait only for the good shot.

Barry almost invariably gets the other team's top trouble shooter (and sometimes top TWO troubleshooters) as a running mate for the evening, and it is literally climbed all over — not to mention hit all over—when the officials aren't looking. He rarely gets good shots. As a consequence, he's compelled to take some of the most fantastically difficult shots we've ever seen a basketball player attempt. It's amazing he hits what he does.

One other neary related fact. Don't forget that virtually every player in the NBA was a top shot in college (scoring's still the name of the game in the pros) and could, on any given night under certain conditions, score 30 points.

What we mean to say, is, when so many good shooters average only 6-8 points a game, it gives you an idea of how great a shooter Barry (who's also probably the best passing forward in the league) really is.

★ ★ ★

MORE BASKETBALL: Now we know why the Celtics lost by so much this year. They placed three men among the top 10 scorers (John Havlicek, Bailey Howell, Sam Jones). When they were winning big, you'd hardly ever see one in the top 10. . . . Since the NBA began awarding Most Valuable Awards in 1956, only four men have won them: Bob Pettit (twice), Bob Cousy (once), Bill Russell (five), and Wilt Chamberlain (three). Russell had a string of four out of five from '61 '65 and in the last seven years it's been either Russell or Chamberlain. . . . Of the 10 best all-time NBA top scorers, only five have averaged better than 20 points a game (Chamberlain, 39.8; Robertson 30.4; Baylor, 28.6; Pettit, 26.4; Arizin, 22.8).

If teams — good teams, that is — would play their own games against UCLA rather than the unnatural stall contest, they'd have a better chance of beating Alcindor and friends.

STORM GORANSON, former Terra Nova wrestler, just completed his senior year at San Francisco State as the most successful wrestler on the best college wrestling team (in dual meets, 13-1 record) in the state this past season.

Goranson placed fifth in the heavyweight division of the National Collegiate Division Championships in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and finished the season with a 19-2-1 record, including tournament matches. Storm was also team captain.

★ ★ ★

EVERYONE else is doing it, so we might as well analyze the 49'er drafting of Steve Spurrier, too. The way we figure it, it's a sure sign of John Brodie leaving the club. What the close-fisted 49'ers will be doing is using the deletion of Brodie's big contract to pay back to Spurrier, and then use Brodie to replace what they traded to Atlanta, and-or a rushing back or two in case Willard quits and Crow's knee doesn't respond. They'll also be getting rid of a very controversial player, and just may draw the old Frankie Albert fans back to the park when the exciting Mira takes over.

★

ONE of the big wire service baseball writers has just gotten around to expounding what we said about the Mickey Mantle first base experiment weeks ago: that first base is much more dangerous than the outfield for a guy with bad pins. If we may quote "the first time Mantle gets dumped on his hamstrings reaching into a speeding runner for a bad throw, the great experiment is over." Which is exactly how we described the unhappy ending.

PBT Consolation For Capuchino

Capuchino High School, the Mid-Peninsula League Champion, took the consolation title in the ninth annual Peninsula Basketball Tournament last Saturday night at Stanford Pavilion.

The tournament crown went to Bishop O'Dowd High of Oakland, for the third time in four years, when that machine downed Sequoia, 63-50.

South San Francisco, ranking third in the tourney, and of the North Peninsula League, won its final slotting with a 74-72 win over Cupertino.

Rated less than an also-ran before the PBT started, the Warriors gripping victory was achieved when Ron Beall's jump shot fell through as the buzzer sounded the end of the game.

Consolation winners Capuchino beat San Jose, 69-66, on the performance of Tom Wuerthner, who scored 26 points.

"Tom did an outstanding job," Cap coach Jimmy Johnson said later. "I can't say enough about him."

Roger Carmine and Jim Kauffman, two Cap players who were named to the all-tournament team, complemented Wuerthner's performance.

"Roger and Jim were also great," Coach Johnson said.

Larry Alsterlind of South San Francisco also made the all-tourney team.

Capuchino received an additional honor: third in the rooting section award competition.

'Fun of Cooking' —By Microwave!

The fun of cooking is in the opening of the oven to see how the tasty morsel looks and in the removal of the saucepan lid and the sniffing of the delightful odors. Half of the fun will soon be gone if Swedish inventors have their way.

They've come up with a microwave oven which cooks 1,000 meals an hour on a conveyor belt. Think of the scene in a gourmet restaurant of the future:

Diner (to waiter) — that is the best meal I've ever had. My compliments to the chef.

Waiter — Chef? We have no chef.

Diner—No chef? Well then, my compliments to the cook.

Waiter—We have no cook either.

Diner—If you have no cook, who prepares the meals?

Waiter—A microwave oven that delivers 16 meals a minute on a conveyor belt.

Diner—Sure is impersonal, isn't it?

And impersonal will be the word by the time 1984 arrives, if not sooner. Already it's possible to order drinks and food by pressing buttons, as one does with a record-playing machine, and some restaurants are reported to be considering delivering the goodies to diners' tables through giant tubes, large versions of those department stores once used for delivering change.

The human element will not be completely eliminated, of course. Always there will be someone to hand a patron his bill and collect the tip.

Uncle Sam Origin

Do you know the origin of "Uncle Sam?"

The original Uncle Sam came from the War of 1812. And he was a real man, Samuel Wilson of Troy, N.Y., a prosperous meat-packer who sold and inspected meat for the Army. Each shipment of salted meat had the barrels stamped "U.S." and so became known as "Uncle Sam's meat."

Later this gradually spread to other federal property and activities until "Uncle Sam" became generally accepted.

The Marquee

'Oh, Dad' Vulgarity

Barbara Bladen

"HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING," is Robert Morse's second claim to fame. He achieved the status initially when he portrayed J. Pierpoint Finch on Broadway. The film version opened in the Bay Area last week.

What a travesty on big business. Nepotism and nastiness, combined with frequent double crosses and huge helpings of opportunism are the formula for success in this satirical musical. The celluloid version retains the brashness of the stage play but could have freed it from stiffness with a more liberal and imaginative use of the cameras.

Within the glass skyscraper of World Wide Wickets exists a jungleland of vultures, male and female. The prey is either sex as the stalking game is played at the elevators, between the desks, at office parties, in the lunchroom and behind executive doors.

Morse is an ingratiating clown who cuts throats while effecting a blushing, innocent demeanor. He's an outwardly timid boob with a heart of flint. The role was wriitten for him and it suits him so well he's played the same bugeyed babyface in all his movies.

The old Vagabond Lover, Rudy Vallee, programs his executive's day to include extracurrcular work with a secretarial sexpot. He's a wolf in crooner's clothing with ample opportunity to do some humorous warbling. The makeup department deserves an Oscar for making him look so young.

There is much about the brightly costumed, sprightly choreographed musical that will be irresistble to white collar workers but the lot of them are a sorry excuse for human beings. The screen makes them larger-than-life.

Elmininating several of the original show's best songs (Coffee Break is one) is a disappointment we've not reconciled.

☆ ☆ ☆

FOR SHEER ABSURDITY, far greater than the play "Endgame," a more lucid exponent of that school of theater, is "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Sad."

Wholly irreverent, it's thoroughly grotesque and not the least bit bunny. It's exclusively at the Parkside Theater.

Its excessive vulgarities in exposing "momism," one of society's inner sanctums, comes as a nightmare, not a bad dream. Venus flytraps, piranha fish, a stamp collection, coin collection and stuffed husband who travels by coffin and hangs in the closet between excursions are sick jokes on which to hang some lurid characterization.

The Broadway play was funny, believe it or not. The movie version is a complete botch, a vulgarization beyond belief that is so tasteless it is repulsive.

Robert Morse is back again this time sucking his thumb, stroking his comfort blanket and playing the super-innocent. This latest bomb should sour him on film making. Barbara Harris leaves nothing to the imagination in her attempt at seducing him and Rosalind Russell is frighteningly horrible (as a character, not an actress) as a maternal pervert.

Johathan Winters, whom they've inserted like a heavenly spookie to jazz up the story, is the least sick of the bunch, but even he can't instill any respect for the trashy effort.

Child's 'It,s Cold, Ma!' Led to 'Colma'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Undoubtedly, one of the most unique towns in the United States is actually two towns — both named Colma, and both known for their cemeteries.

The origin of the name Colma is obscure, but a local legend claims a little child in 1874 accidentally named the town — which was then called School House Station — while leaning out a train window on a cold blustery night.

"Gosh, it's cold ma," the child reportedly said to his mother. And the name "cold-ma" caught on!

☆

THE ESTABLISHMENT of the present day cemeteries in Colma started in 1898 after the neighboring city of San Francisco passed a law forbidding any further burials within that city's limits. The new ordinace allowed funeral parlors a three-year grace period before becoming effective.

On March 2, 1901, the first funeral procession threaded its way along the narrow roadway between San Francisco and the new burial grounds in the City of Lawndale.

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors had wanted to call the new grounds "Memorial Parks," but found out the county already had a "Memorial Parks" and decided to call the area "Lawndale."

It wasn't until the name had been officially adopted that the supervisors were told Los Angeles had a "Lawndale" of their own and the Post Office was confusing the mail destined for the cemeteries.

The Board of Supervisors, acting on a suggestion of the Post Office Department, reverted back to the name of Colma on 17 November 1941. Nothing was changed except the name.

☆

THE NEW COLMA, previously known as Lawndale and before that "Coldma" (Colma), encompassed an association of ten cemeteries in 1923. Every one of San Francisco's memorial parks were located within the huge incorporated township.

Presently, there are 13 cemeteries in the incorporated town of Colma: Holy Cross, Cypress Lawn, Olivet Memorial Park, Woodlawn, Greenlawn, Italian, Eternal Home, Home of Peace, Hills of Eternity, Salem, Greek Orthodox, Serbian and Japanese. Two others, Russian and Chinese cemeteries, are not in the incorporated township.

Many of the world's most beautiful stoneworks (monuments) and memorials can be found in these well-groomed cemeteries. The stone cutters and polishers are employed by more than eight firms, some of which date back as many as five generations.

Many of the flowers used at the Colma cemeteries are grown locally in private greenhouses and open gardens.

COLMA ITSELF does not have greenhouses within its township and must rely in a great part on "outside" florists. However, the demand for flowers is constant and various florists have handed down their business from father to son.

For example, Paul's Flowers is run by Paul Deluchi Sr. and his son. The senior Deluchi delights in telling people he was born and raised in Colma and recalls as a youngster, chasing after Chinese Burial Processions enroute to their cemetery.

He soon found out that a sob or two would get him some fresh fruit, such as an orange or banana, from the person in charge of the funeral, plus "some round money with a square hole in it."

In recent years, the trend has shifted toward garden-type crypt mausoleums. These are built in rows, six high above the ground level.

Today, the Italian Cemetery has more than 1,000 of these crypts.

In days past, the San Francisco Transportation Company ran streetcars to the cemeteries — all the way to Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

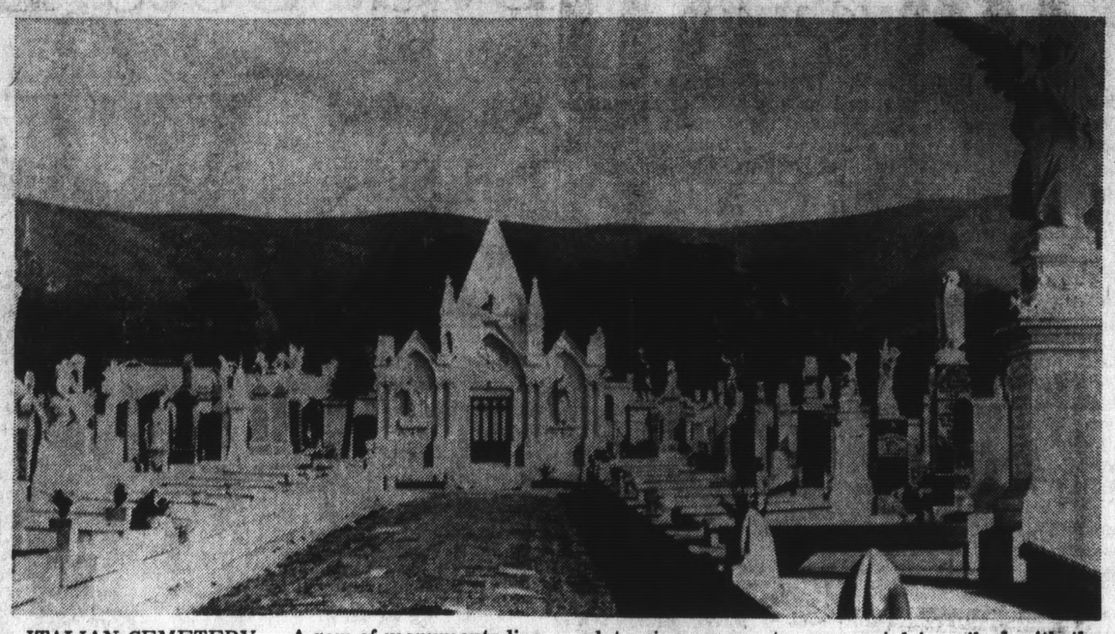

☆

THE STREETCARS were called "subs" and the first car consisted of the casket, while the remainder of the streetcar held the mourners.

Colma has no tax rate. The bulk of the town's revenues come from burial permits, which go to the county and are channeled back in sundry services.

There is a collection fee of $2.50 — $1.50 of this amount goes to the Town of Colma and the remainder to the county for upkeep of Hillside Boulevard within the township.

This figure brings in some $1,500 monthly to the town's coffers — more than sufficient to meet any financial obligations of the small town, Colma.

Cancer Campaign Kickoff

The Crusade banner of the American Cancer Society will be raised to herald Cancer Control Month — April — when San Mateo County ACS Branch directors and volunteers convene March 30, for their annual campaign kickoff luncheon.

San Mateo Elks Club will be the setting for the event.

As workers in the "Tell Your Neighbor" campaign arrive they will be greeted by the Crusade's symbolic leader, Jerry P. Booker in authentic Crusader costume and his huge black Percheron mount, Sir Deval, in full regalia of a Crusade charger.

In a brief inspirational message to the volunteers, County Crusade Chairman Richard Foster will explain the twofold purpose of Cancer Control Month. to raise a $134,500 fund for research, education and service and to reach every county household with lifesaving educational pamphlets

This year's campaign literature, to be distributed by more than 2,000 volunteers during April, will stress the seven warning signals of cancer, Foster said. "Our hope is to reach the one cancer patient who dies needlessly because his disease is detected and treated too late," he added.

Members of the Cancer Society, campaign volunteers and others interested in ACS programs are invited to attend the noon kickoff luncheon. Reservations may be made by calling San Mateo County Branch headquarters at 1517 South B Street, San Mateo, 341-8749.

Check Number Before You Call!

Frank LaPierre

SORRY, WRONG NUMBER — Lots of people are mistakenly dialing the Fire Department instead of the Police Department these days, chief Roland Petrocchi reports. In the new (1967-68) Daly City-Colma business directory, the fire department lists two numbers — emergency (992-2313) and business (992-1144). What seems to be confusing lots of people hereabouts is the police listing directly under the two fire numbers. If you've got a police problem, dial 992-1225.

OH, THE GRIEF — When everyone found out Daly City mayor Bernard Lycett had completed his annual pilgrimage to the Blarney Stone and wasn't footing the bill for that wonderful corn-beef-n-cabbage luncheon last Thursday attended my many Chamber members . . . well you can guess what happened. At least half the members present at Val's Restaurant had been led to believe the mayor arranged everything, chamber president John Wuerthner said. Actually, owner Val paid for everything —as he does every year.

The crowd settled for an "Irish Song" from Lycett who gladly obliged. There wasn't a dry eye in the house when Lycett finished his song. "It wasn't the song as much as the way he sang it — real sad," one member remarked. Sure, and 'twas a true Irish gatherin'!

☆

NOW IT'S OFFICIAL — Daly City will have two men from the city's Street Division patrolling streets during stormy weather "to check on critical areas and take required action as necessary." Which simply means the men will slosh though known flood areas and unplug storm drains while most of us sit home and read the papers or watch the telly, snug and dry.

COUNTY SUPERVISOR Jean Fassler has been sending out multi-question survey forms to various city officials in the county asking their feelings about the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG).

Councilman Frank Pacelli (D.C.) received his city's form and asked fellow councilmen: "Do we still have the same opinion of ABAG?" They did and they still want out! The form went back with suitable notations on it. Daly City handed in its resignation from ABAG last week amidst a flurry of charges directed at the super-government by Pacelli.

☆

FRONTIERSVILLE — Children (??) are shooting up everything in sight around the north county with those dratted airrifles. Used to be a time when we called 'em BB Guns (remember Red Ryder?) and directed the shots at tin cans and bottles.

Nowadays, these guns are being aimed at cars, plate glass windows and other kids. Get caught spraying a window with that BB gun and see who pays.

And how do you explain it away after another child loses an eye from a pellet? The person that bought the child a gun should enforce its use — the hard way, if necessary!

☆

DALY CITY has purchased, from the California Division of Forestry, some 9,000 seedlings (mostly pines) for use by residents of the Southern Hills section of the city.

The trees will be furnished free of charge and will be made available through the cooperation of the Southern Hills Homeowners Association, city engineer Art Reschke writes.

Anyone wanting a seedling call Tony DeMarlo, 45 Arden Court (585-3694). Reschke urged interested persons to place their orders immediately "as their life expectancy (the seedlings, that is) is only a few days if not planted."

☆

CLOSE THE DOOR CORRECTED — Frank Greenwood, O. Wayne Douglas and Thomas Noonan all have claimed they had no secret meeting as reported in this column on March 15, 1967. Sorry gentlemen, I'll take your word for it, and my story stands corrected.

☆

BE PREPARED — Mrs. Fern Warner, owner of a maternity store by that name at 331 So. Mayfair Avenue in D.C., tells about a young woman who rushed into the shop the other p.m. shortly before closing and gushed: "I'm so glad you're still open. I'm getting married in the morning and I want to be prepared."

Enjoyable Variety For Little Cost

Samuel Chandler

There is magic in group games: magic that makes people know that it is fun to play together, to laugh together, and just to be together.

As Robert V. Masters observes in his new "Family Game Book," games provide an infinite variety of enjoyable activities that cost nothing or at least little more than imagination.

Masters' book has been called a veritable grab bag of tested games for all occasions. For example there are six games in a section called "In the Car." Among them are the old standbys — auto hide and seek and car alphabet game. There's also the Merritt Parkway game which will keep everyone in the car busy recognizing passing cars and road side places with pre-arranged sounds like BZZZ and EEEE and OOOO.

☆

THE "Family Game Book" is divided into eight sections. Section one is pre-schoolers and play. Section two is for kindergartners and first graders, section six is entitled "Teen-Age Games and Parties" section seven contains parties and games for older teens, section eight is "Games for Two—Teen-agers and Adults."

Of all the sections, one that seems the most outstanding is number three, "Games for Boys and Fathers." Masters addresses it to fathers in cities and large towns.

"For years now," he writes, "a cry has been going up that father-son relationships in the United States are not what they could be." . . . We have generally taken it for granted that time is what is lacking—time, and the money necessary to do interesting things together." The father and son section provides convincing arguments against these objections.

☆

IN 1966 E. O. Harbin's famous "The Fun Encyclopedia" was reprinted by the Abingdon Press. This famous old book is double-starred on everyone's list. It is subtitled "a comprehensive, all purpose, entertainment plan-book for the home, club, school, church and playground." Each of its 1,008 pages is packed with games and suggestions for fun-filled recreation.

The person who will use it will find it a key to better home-evenings, parties, banquets and picnics. For example how about an April Fool's Party with all sorts of foolish snares around the room and with adults participating in a "kiddie kar relay" or an April Shower race in which everyone dons raincoats, hats, rubbers, etc.

The "Fun Encyclopedia" is divided into 31 sections. Section four, "Fun With Banquets," has been called a priceless document.

Section seven, "Fun with Nonsense Games and Stunts," is full of novelty races and contests—such as "Uncle Ned Is Dead" — which changes the most sedate person into a hideous contortion, or "Does She Cackle" which has everyone making noises like chickens and ducks, or "Teakettle" where players must guess the identity of words that are pronounced the same.

☆

Section 17 suggests parties and games for the various months of the year. Section nineteen tells how to be a hostess. Section 31, entitled "Sharing the Fun," discusses how to introduce and lead games.

"The Fun Encyclopedia" has been called a goldmine by the National Recreation Association. The Christian Century named it "the best buy on the market."

Buying Siding Job Through the Mails

Lorene Beasley

No company can give an accurate set price on an aluminum siding job for a building they have never seen or measured. Yet, yearly thousands of homeowners are sold siding jobs through special mail offers and newspaper advertisements.

Misleading advertisements which promise complete installation for a specific price are often plain gimmicks by gyp artists to secure leads to homeowners who may be interested in renovating their property.

A gyp artist is a man who promises something for nothing. He is usually a well-dressed smooth-talking person who offers a custom job at bargain prices.

☆

TOO many people stop reading when they come to the fine print in an advertisement and end up paying a great deal more money for siding to cover their home than they had planned to. The average one-family home is approximately 1,600 to 2,000 square feet—the fine print in most advertisements offering a set price specifies "up to 1,000 feet."

A fair basis for advertising the cost of an aluminum siding installation is on the basis of "per 100 square feet." The total cost for any siding job can be determined by the number of squares required.

The price per square should include all costs for labor, parts and accessories such as door and window trim, window head flashing and other such essentials. Any one attracted by a low advertised siding job should check thoroughly into whether the quoted price includes ALL labor costs and supplies needed to install the siding on HIS OWN HOUSE.

☆

A CAUTIOUS homeowner will get several estimates from established reputable firms. Well-known brands of aluminum siding bear the manufacturer's trademark on each piece of materal.

I you are considering steel siding, although U.S. Steel does make steel coil from which siding is made, it does not make a finished siding product nor does it have representatives in the retail selling field.

Salesmen claiming to be "U. S. Steel" have used the aluminum siding boy's gimmick of giving a special price for the use of a home as a "model." Remember, a guarantee is only as good as the company back of it!

S.S.F. Is Proud Of El Camino Band

By DON GRIERSON

El Camino High School assured South San Francisco custody of the coveted University of Nevada Alumni Stage Band Trophy for another year.

The group preserved the Bay Area's reputation as the nation's leading producer of talented musicians in the "dance band" idiom.

The 17-member band, directed by Ted Marr, won the "over-all best band" award in competition with 50 other groups from five western states at the university's annual Stage Band Festival in Reno.

Competing in the AA Class, a relatively "minor league" designation for schools with less than 900 students, the El Camino performers took the trophy from rival South San Francisco High School, last year's "grand prize" winner at the festival.

But South San Francisco High band director Warren Heckman showed no resentment over the accomplishment of his arch-rivals, and said he is "very pleased" the trophy will remain in the city.

"I think the El Camino band won hands down this year," Heckman said, "and the Bay Area high schools in general are indisputably the nation's leaders in this musical genre."

Heckman's band, a larger stage group with 32 members, won first prize in the AAAA Class last week, and Westmoor High School took first place in AAA Class competition.

The modern stage band is a "direct descendant" of the larger dance bands of the 1930's and 40's, and performs popular music of the jazz and "swing" genre.

Directors of the highly successful local stage bands attribute much of the popularity of the idiom to the Stan Kenton band, a prevalent influence in this area.

Performers in the championship El Camino band were Jim Aron, lead trumpet; Bill Bridges, drums; Joe Cavallara, second trumpet; Mike Comer, guitar; Keith Crosson, tenor;

Man Robbed By Teeners In Daly City

Two teen-age boys robbed a Daly City man at gun point last week while on Knowles Street, police reported.

William Fiedmann, 232 Woodrow Street, said he was walking in the 500 block of Knowles about 7:15 p.m. when the pair, both boys in their late teens, got out of an old-model green car and demanded his wallet.

One of the youths was carrying a long-barreled revolver, Fiedmann said, and he turned over the wallet, which contained only $6. They fled east on Knowles.

About ten minutes earlier a pair of teen-agers attepted to hold up another Daly City man, Daniel R. Cabral, in the 300 block of Park Plaza Drive, but were apparently frightened away by a passing motorist.

Police said a description of the suspects and the weapon in the robbery attempt matched that of the later incident, and the same two youths are believed to have been responsible.

$100,000 Suit For Dog Bite

A Pacifica postman who was bitten by a dog while delivering letters filed a $100,000 damage suit last week against the owner.

Robert Provost asks the damages from John C. Nichols, 300 Bancroft Way.

EL CAMINO High School's stage band won the "over-all grand prize" at the annual University of Nevada Stage Band Festival. The band, with only 17 members, was judged the best of 50 musical groups from high schools throughout five western states. (Post Photo)

Hearing On Restaurant Appeal Set

A public hearing will be held April 10 on an appeal of the San Bruno Planning Commission's decision to grant a use permit for an A & W Drive-in restaurant on El Camino Real.

Councilmen at the hearing for the first scheduled meeting in April Monday after receiving a letter of appeal from John Murphy, owner of an apartment house adjacent to the proposed drive-in site.

Planning commissioners granted a permit for the controversial establishment last month over the objections of several residents and property owners of the neighborhood.

Policemen Hurt in Chase

Three policemen were injured Wednesday night in a wild chase on San Bruno Mountain in Daly City while pursuing a high school student on a stolen motorcycle.

South San Francisco Police Officer Mifflin Singleton received a broken ankle and two Broadmoor policemen, George Carleton and Robert Jordan, were badly bruised while attempting to apprehend 18-year-old Kenneth G. Brewer.

Singleton said he spotted the motorcycle, later identified as a stolen vehicle, traveling north at a high rate of speed on El Camino Real in South San Francisco about 7 p.m.

He pursued the motorcycle, sounding the patrol car siren, but the driver increased his speed to nearly 100 miles per hour.

Singleton said Brewer turned off El Camino Real onto Market Street when he reached Daly City, and then headed up San Bruno Mountain on the road to the television towers.

The South San Fancisco officer called for help from Daly City and Broadmoor units, and six policemen were ultimately involved in the chase.

"He stopped the motorcycle about half way up the mountain, and fled up a steep embankment on foot," Singleton said.

Singleton was injured when he slipped and fell down the steep embankment while he and the two Broadmoor officers pursued Brewer on foot.

The youth turned and ran back downhill after Singleton fell, and met Daly City policemen who had responded to the officer's call for assistance. He then turned and ran back up the hill, and was apprehended by Carleton and Jordan, who sustained their injuries while attempting to handcuff him.

Brewer and another student, James. A. Flaherty, have been charged with grand theft. The motorcycle was stolen from a South San Francisco residence earlier this week.

The youths were arraigned in North County Municipal Court where bail was set at $500 for Brewer and $250 for Flaherty, who is charged with being an accomplice in the theft of the motorcycle.

West Bay Transfer For Land Project

Pacific Air Commerce Center, Inc. — the joint venture of Crocker Land Company, Ideal Cement Company, David Rockefeller & Associates, and Lazard Freres & Co. — has transferred its activities to its parent firm. Westbay Community Associates, it was announced today by Warren T. Lindquist, PACC president.

Lindquist said the Westbay name reflects more accurately the general concepts the group has been working on since mid-1965 when the City of San Francisco decided to proceed independently with the addition of air cargo facilities at San Francisco International Airport. PACC had been formed in 1963 for the primary purpose of collaborating with the city on the airport development.

"Eighteen months ago we began developing new planning concepts to tie in even more closely with the master plan of San Mateo County and the needs of the community for additional recreational and residential planning as well as light industrial and commercial facilities keyed to air commerce," Lindquist said.

"Our approach has long been far more diverse and oriented to balanced community planning than the 'air commerce center' concept with which we began," he noted. "Thus Westbay Community Associates is a more appropriate identity for our activities."

The lands involved in the group's evolving concept extend generally eight miles along the bay shoreline from the San Francisco International Airport to the Hayward-San Mateo Bridge. A feature of the new concept is the creation of 30 miles of new shoreline.

Extra Men Needed For D.C. Dogs

Daly City's dog problem has generated to a point where the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will add extra men to their payroll before April to service that city.

The SPCA was expected to "blanket" the Daly City area for a period of three months, with future policing of the dog problem accomplished by the county through periodic requests made by the city.

City Mgr. Edward Frank, in a discussion with county officials, said immediate action on additional services in Daly City for dog control was needed.

Frank explained to A. Russell Turver, of the SPCA, that a substantial increase in dog complaints have been pouring into city offices from local residents.

The county has taken the matter under consideration, Frank said, and will likely include appropriations for needed increased dog control in next year's budget.

The county and city of Daly City mapped a plan for controlling the dogs some ten years ago, however, the plan has since been outdated due to the tremendous jump in population throughout the area, according to officials.

During the period of this "population explosion" the SPCA had not increased their manpower allotment to cope with the rise in dog complaints, Frank said.

Girl, 8, Hit Leaving A School Bus

An eight-year-old Daly City girl was hit by a passing car when she darted into the street from a school bus Wednesday afternoon.

Police said Rosalind Poehleman, 8, of 543 Skyline Drive was struck by a car driven by Dennis R. Harer, 18, of 80 Huntington Street, Daly City, shortly before 3 p.m.

Rosalind was crossing Avalon Street at the time of the accident.

She was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital, where doctors treated her for cuts and bruises.

Bruno Legion Auxiliary Launches Member Drive

Mrs. Louis Vitali, chairman of the Membership committee of Unit 409 of the American Legion Auxiliary of San Bruno, said this week that there never has been a time when it has been more important to increase their membership and enroll every eligible wife, mother, sister or daughter of a Legionnaire in their ranks.

"With our hospitals filling with a new generation of veterans, those returning from Vietnam, we will need many more hospital workers and field service volunteers," she said. "We will need members to work with the American Legion on its program of enforcement of law and order. The women of this nation are distressed at the rapidity of increased crime incidents, lack of safety on city streets, acts of vandalism, and all the other rebellions against Law and order."

St. Veronica's Pre-Festival 'Venice Carnival' Shaping

Members of the various committees working on St. Veronica's Festival have shifted into high gear. Meetings and planning sessions have been held and now all are actively engaged to make this year's event the most successful ever.

Decorations chairman Mrs. William Dondero has promised a pleasant change of scenery for all who attend "Carnival of Venice."

New games and old-time favorites are being set up by the booth committee to test the skill of all age groups.

The dinner will be prepared by the Italian chef, John Caselli.

The Parish Directory will be distributed during the three-day event.

Mrs. Leo Makowski is sorting and pricing the many items received for the rummage sale, held a month before the festival, on April 20, 21 and 22.

The festival will be held in the "Big Tent" on Alida Way, off El Camino, in South San Francisco, May 19, 20 and 21.

WATCH FOR THIS DANGER SIGNAL WHEN YOU FURNISH!

One of the great dangers people face in furnishing a room is conformity. Many people won't improvise — and the result is that too many living rooms, dining rooms and bedrooms look too much like those of friends and neighbors.

But, just as good writers try to avoid trite and stale expressions in their choice of words, so good decorators try to avoid trite and stale—and commonplace arrangements in furnishing a room.

And, you, too, can dare to be imaginative enough so as not to furnish just the same as your neighbors. There are many ways in which regimentation of room arrangements may be avoided—and if you'll stop in our store we'll be glad to talk over your specific room problems and show you furniture you can use to beautifully decorate your home.

There are many ideas for every room in your house. For example, let's just mention the dining area. Dull dining rooms can be improved by non-conformity. How about using brightly contrasted chairs and wall cabinet with your wood-finished table to make a charmingly different room.

For an endless number of fresh, exciting ideas for your home, stop in and see us.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience or call PL 6-7500.

Easter Eggs In a Magic Way

Easter eggs old hat? Not when they're a no-cook fondant made the Borden Kitchen way with sweetened condensed milk.

Magic Easter Egg Fondant: (Makes 2 lbs.—enough for 2-dozen medium-size eggs)

In a medium-size mixing bowl cream together 1/2-cup butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, and 1 teaspoon salt. Blend in 2/3-cup sweetened condensed milk until smooth. (For best results use only Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk.) Gradually add 6-cups (about 1-1/2-lbs.) sifted Confectioners' sugar. Blend well after each addition until the mixture becomes very stiff; turn onto a clean board. Carefully knead in all remaining sugar. The mixture should be smooth, not sticky. Cut mixture into the desired number of pieces, separating according to number of flavor variations desired (see below). With palms of hands, shape each piece into an egg; place on a waxed-paper-lined cookie sheet. Refrigerate for several hours or overnight. Dip eggs in Dipping Chocolate.

FLAVOR VARIATIONS: Coconut, Immediately after all of the sugar has been kneaded into the Basic Fondant mixture, gradually knead in 3/4-cup flaked coconut. Almond, In the above Magic Easter Egg Fondant recipe, Substitute 1 teaspoon almond extract for vanilla extract OR cream in 1 (8-oz.) can almond paste. Follow directions as indicated in basic recipe.

DIPPING CHOCOLATE: Put 8 squares (1/2-lb.) semi-sweet chocolate and 1/3-1/2 slab household paraffin wax in top of double boiler. Place over hot water. Heat over medium-heat. (Never melt paraffin over direct heat.) Stir with wire whisk until chocolate is melted and well blended. Remove from heat. Insert double-pronged kitchen fork into bottom of chilled fondant egg (or place egg on a flat wire skimmer). Dip into chocolate; let excess chocolate drip for a moment. Carefully place dipped egg on waxed-paper-lined cookie sheet. Stir chocolate thoroughly with wire whisk before dipping each egg. If chocolate begins to cool and thicken, place over low heat and gently reheat. Let coating dry. Decorate with butter cream frosting.

Party Day or Any Day, Try Ramekins

Party day, busy day, any day—thank heaven for the no-fuss dinner. The Borden Kitchen had just such a hurried homemaker in mind when they created shrimp-egg ramekins smoothly sauced with Gruyere cheese. Complement with a crisp green salad, refrigerated biscuits temptingly browned, and—dinner's ready.

Deviled Cheese and Shrimp Ramekins
(Makes 4 Servings)

- 1/4 cup Danish flavor margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 cups homogenized milk
- 1-1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons Wyler's dehydrated parsley flakes
- Dash salt & pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3-4 drops Tabasco sauce
- 1 package (six 1-oz. portions) Borden's pasteurized process Gruyere cheese
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup finely chopped pecans
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 cup (one 5-oz. can) shrimp, drained

In a medium-size saucepan, melt butter or margarine; saute onion until transparent. Stir in flour; cook until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat; gradually blend in milk. Place over medium heat. Cook; stir constantly until sauce is thickened. Stir in mustard, parsley flakes, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco. Remove from heat. Shred four portions of cheese. Stir into sauce. Return to heat; stir until cheese melts. Shred the remaining cheese and combine with crumbs, pecans and butter. Reserve for topping. Butter 4 individual ramekins. Divide cheese sauce in half; spoon into 4 ramekins. Cut eggs lengthwise into quarters. Arrange over cheese sauce. Add shrimp. Top each ramekin with remaining cheese sauce. Sprinkle each with cheese-crumb mixture. Bake in a moderate (375°F.) oven 10 minutes or until crumbs brown and sauce is bubbly.

Break for Tea

NOWADAYS ALMOST EVERYONE seems to belong to some committee or other. When it's your turn to hold the meeting or work session, what will you serve for refreshments? Many hostesses set up "help-yourself-tea-bars" on a sideboard or card table so that members can make freshly brewed tea when the spirit moves them. The tea bar holds cups and saucers, spoons, sugar bowl and milk pitcher, plus tea bags for individual service and a pot of boiling water.

It's nice to put the teabags in an attractive little jar such as a jam pot, sugar bowl or one of the glass apothecary jars found in variety stores. If you paint or stencil designs and the word "Teabag" on the jar, you'll have a decorative piece for your kitchen shelf or to use for make-it-on-the-spot service.

Of course, you must have boiling water on hand. Good tea just can't be made without it. If you've an electric hot plate, use it to keep water bubbling in a kettle or flame-proof teapot.

So try the tea bar idea the next time the meeting is at your house. You'll find that ideas come quicker and more gets accomplished when all take a break for tea.

A Wonderland Size Diminisher

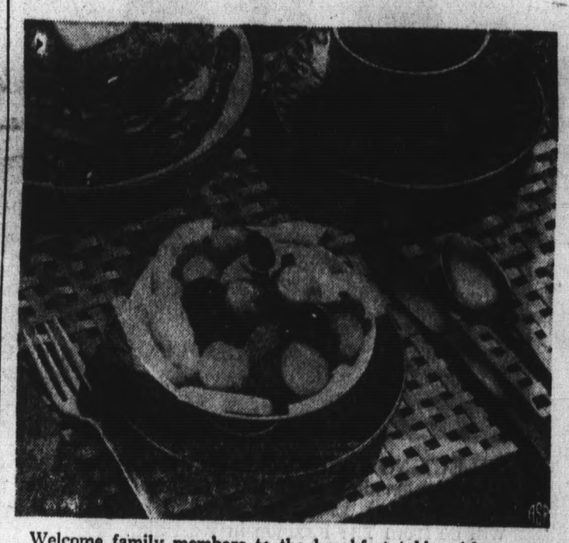

When Alice in Wonderland drank the drink that made her shrink, she was years ahead of her time. Remember how she found the flavor "very nice"? It was a mixture of cherry-tart, custard, pineapple, toffee and so on.

Today's size-diminishing drinks aren't fantasy at all. Neither are the flavors. One liquid diet food offers you 20 "fantastically wonderful" (as Alice would say) flavors — from plain chocolate to coffee royale — all designed to help you shrink your size. And if you want to have your own diet tea party, try these:

Toffee Toddy
10-ounce can Caramel Fudge Sego
1 teasp. Brandy Flavoring
Heat until steaming. Do not boil. (225 calories)

Mad Hatter
10-ounce can Chocolate Coconut Sego, chilled
1 small scoop Lemon Sherbet
1 Maraschino Cherry
Pour liquid diet food into a tall glass. Drop in sherbet. Top with maraschino cherry. (298 calories)

A Sweet Cherry Breakfast Treat

Welcome family members to the breakfast table with a new taste treat. Sweet cherry fruit cup features canned light and dark sweet cherries interspersed with tangy sections of grapefruit. Orange slices outline the glamorous mixture. This colorful breakfast fruit will give a boost to morning energy and delight even the most hesitant morning riser.

Light and dark sweet cherries are grown big, juicy, and bountiful in the Pacific Northwest. This precious fruit is preserved for your year round enjoyment through the deft handling of professional canners.

Canned sweet cherries make an appreciated addition to desserts, salads and meats. Increase your family's mealtime enjoyment by using them often.

Sweet Cherry Breakfast Cup
1 (1 pound) can light sweet cherries
1 (1 pound) can dark sweet cherries
2 oranges
1 grapefruit
Fresh mint or watercress

Chill and drain cherries, reserving syrup. Slice whole oranges thin and line sides of breakfast cups with slices. Peel and section grapefruit. Arrange cherries and grapefruit in center of cup. Spoon 2 or 3 tablespoons cherry syrup over fruit. Garnish with a sprig of fresh mint or watercress. Makes 6 servings.

Kids Drink Lots of Milk

California school children were encouraged to drink over 415,250,000 half-pints of milk last year (1965-1966) under the National School Lunch Program and the Special School Milk Program, according to W. B. Woodburn, manager, Dairy Council of California. This approximates 9 per cent of the state's total fluid milk consumption during days schools were in session.

The Special Milk Program has seen steady growth since its inception in 1954 when it supplemented the National School Lunch Program which has been in operation since 1946.

Nutritionists agree that a child needs three or more eight-ounce glasses of milk a day for energy, growth and repair of body tissues, for strong bones and teeth and for a general feeling of "well-being." Tenn-agers need a quart or more of milk a day.

Union Good Friday Rites

The Union Good Friday service will be held this Friday from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene, Washington and Edgeworth Streets in Colma.

Host pastor is to be the Rev. Ronald Grabke.

Speakers will be the Rev. Clifford Droke of the Wesley Methodist Church preaching on the topic "The Cup of Sorrow."

The next speaker is to be the Rev. Hansel Stembridge of the Westlake Community Baptist Church using the topics, "The Crook of the Shepherd." The Rev. George Hollywood of St. Martin's Episcopal Church will speak of "The Cross of Shame," and the Rev. Herbert Tweedie of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church will conclude the service, speaking on "The Crown of Supremacy."

Special musical numbers will be brought by soloists from various churches.

Among other ministers participating are the Rev. Thomas Unmacht of the Westlake Lutheran Church, the Rev. Howard Bryant of the Second Baptist Church and the Rev. Roy Erford of the Seacliff Community Church.

The service is divided into four one-half hour periods emphasizing various aspects of the crucifixion.

The public is invited to come for all or part of the service in meditation upon the meaning of Good Friday.

The service is sponsored by the Daly City Ministerial Association.

Bethlehem Plans Easter Services

Bethlehem Lutheran Church on Hickey Boulevard in Pacifica will celebrate the festival of Easter at three worship services Sunday. The Rev. M. Douglas Swendseid, pastor, said Bethlehem will hold an early service with Holy Communion at 6:15 a.m.

This will be followed by a continental breakfast served by the young people of the church at 7 a.m.

The sermon topic for this service is, "Resurrection Doubt."

There will be identical worship services at the usual hours of 9 and 11 a.m.

Pastor Swendseid's sermon topic is "Death Is the Question."

At the 11 a.m. service, the senior choir under the direction of Howard Loeffler will sing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The regular Sunday school session will be held at 10 a.m. Nursery care will be provided at all services.

Topic to Be 'Resurrection'

"Facts Concerning the Resurrection of Christ That Have Never Been Answered" will be Pastor Walter Stram's Resurrection Day message at 11 a.m., March 26, at the Peninsula Church of Christ-Christian, meting in Olivet Chapel, Hillside Boulevard and "F" Streets, Colma.

Bible School, with classes for all ages, is at 9:45 a.m.

Westside Baptists Join Rites

Members and friends of the Westside Baptist Church will join with other church groups from San Mateo County in a Good Friday night service at the Sequoia High School Auditorium, Redwood City, at 7:30 p.m.

Evangelist Robert Harrison, formerly with the Billy Graham Association, and now with Overseas Crusades, Inc., will be the main speaker.

"Where Is He?" is the topic chosen by Pastor A. David Donnelly for the Easter Morning message at 11 o'clock. Special music will be provided by Per Hillerstrom, a baritone soloist.

Mrs. Jerome King will be the accompanist.

Primary church will be provided for boys and girls of primary and kindergarten school age. A nursery is provided.

At the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, the topic for the message will be "The Fruit of Victory," another in a series of messages taken from the book of Joshua.

On Monday, March 28, at 9:50 a.m. at the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 1600 Santa Lucia Avenue, San Bruno, the Women's Bible Class will be held. Mrs. Robert Anderson is the teacher. Presently the women are studying the book of Hebrews.

The Girls' Missionary Guild, for Junior age girls, will meet at the home of the director, Mrs. Ann Besser, 500 Del Monte, South San Francisco, at 7 p.m. March 23.

No Property Tax Increase

County property taxes will not be used to make up for any loss of funds caused by Governor Reagan's austerity program, the County Board of Supervisors pledged last Tuesday.

A statement of principle was adopted by the board on the suggestion of Chairman Jean Fassler of Pacifica.

Wesley Methodist's Holy Week Services

Holy Week will be climaxed by worship services on Easter Sunday at 9:30 and 11 a.m. in Wesley Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Avenue near St. Francis Boulevard, Daly City.

The Rev. Clifford S. Droke will preach on "The Contemporary Meaning of the Resurrection" at both services. There will be nursery care for younger children and infants at both hours, and Sunday school for children and youth at 9:30.

Wesley Church's adult choir will sing two anthems under the direction of Mrs. Roger S. Murray at the 11 a.m. service. The junior choir (grades five and six) led by Mrs. Jeffrey Bell will sing at the 9:30 a.m. hour.

Other Holy Week services include a special celebration of Holy Communion at 8 p.m. on Maundy Thursday, tomorrow, at which the congregation will receive Communion while seated, 12 at a time, around a table in commemoration of the first Lord's Supper.

The pastor's sermon theme will be "Remembering."

On Good Friday, the Methodists will join with several other congregations from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. for a United Protestant Service at Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene, Edgeworth and Washington Streets.

Methodist leadership will be provided by the Rev. Clifford S. Droke, preaching on "The Cup," and by Mrs. Arthur Stewart, who will sing a solo.

This is the first Holy Week the Methodists are celebrating in their new church building, which was completed last July.

Hope Lutherans Slate Tenebrae

The traditional Tenebrae Service — a service of darkness — will be observed at Hope Lutheran Church, 55 San Fernando Way, Daly City, on Good Friday, at 7:30 p.m.

The service will consist of readings from the Passion history of Christ, interspersed with hymns by the congregation and anthems by the Junior and Senior choirs.

Upon the altar will be 12 small candles, representing the 12 disciples, and one large candle, representing Christ. After each Scripture lesson, one of the small candles is extinguished, signifying the flight of the disciples, until only the candle representing Christ is left.

This is then taken behind the altar, to signify His death.

The church lights are progressively dimmed until, at the end of the service, the church is in complete darkness. The whispering of the Lord's Prayer and the benediction conclude the service, after which the congregation leaves in silence and meditation.

Pastor Arnim H. Polster will be assisted by Ernest Rubke in the readings, and by acolytes James Delfino and Stephen Wray.

A daytime Good Friday service will be held at 1 p.m., with brief meditations on the seven last words of Christ on the cross, and hymns by the congregation.

On March 23, Maundy Thursday, the anniversary of the institution of the Lord's Supper, a communion service will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Two services will be held on Easter Sunday, at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. During the 11 a.m. service, a number of children from the Sunday School will receive the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. Both choirs will sing in both services.

At 9:45 a.m., the Sunday School will show a special Easter film, "Dawn of Victory," in place of the regular lessons.

Members of the young people's group, the Walther League, will serve an Easter breakfast at the church from 7:00 to 11 a.m.

El Camino High Carnival Slated

"Night Games," the carnival to be held in the El Camino High School courtyard, will open on Friday, March 31, from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. and will continue on Saturday from 12 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Linda Mitchell, student body commissioner of clubs, said the carnival will feature a variety of games and contests which will be sponsored and run by the campus clubs. Food and drink will also be sold.

Assisting Linda is Mr. Maldonado, director of Student Activities, who commented, "We hope that this project will be profitable for the contributing clubs as well as enjoyable."

Also included in the plans is a dance Saturday night after the carnival itself closes, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. The profit from the dance will go to the Foreign Exchange program.

Pacifica Man Is Drowned

Postal worker Russell M. West, 24, 2416 Palmetto Drive, Pacifica, lost his grip on an overturned boat last Thursday and drowned.

He had gone fishing in a reservoir 26 miles east of Modesto with his brother, Raymond E. West, 27, same address in Pacifica, and Charles Brewster of San Francisco.

Their boat leaked and then overturned.

The two survivors swam for 45 minutes until they reached shore. They are both San Francisco police officers.

Rescue workers were to resume the search today for West, who worked in the Daly City post office.

West is survived by his wife, Maureen. The couple had no children but she is expecting her first child. West was praised today by his employer, Postmaster Vincent Murphy, as "one of the finest workers we have in the department. We are all deeply shocked. He had been with us for seven years," he said.

Louis Manis Reappointed

Louis Manis, 211 Village Lane Colma, was appointed yesterday to a new term as commissioner of the Broadmoor Police Protection District. The appointment was made by the County Board of Supervisors at the request of the district, in lieu of an election. Manis was the only candidate to file for the position.

The exhibit will include works in ceramics, sculpture, oils, ink wash and water color, drawing, collages, commercial design and various mixed medias. The show's award winners' works will be displayed at the new city library for all of May.

Ribbon awards will be presented Friday, March 31, with cash awards later at a student body assembly. Judges will include top artists from the Peninsula and San Francisco.

Five Trustees Will Award Diplomas

The five Jefferson High School Trustees will award diplomas at six Daly City June commencement exercises.

District Supt. Ed Morgan announced that graduation ceremonies would be held June 14 (Thornton), June 15 (Jefferson, Oceana and Westmoor), June 16 (Terra Nova) and August 10 (Summer School.)

The trustees agreed that Elio Fontana would hand out the diplomas at Jefferson High, Ray Milton and Ed S. Solomon to Westmoor graduates, Jim Cooper at Oceana and Terra Nova High School and Board Chairman Lyle Ingersol, Thornton.

The dual participation of Milton and Solomon at Westmoor's rites follows a tradition that a trustee who has a child graduating from a particular school is to award the diplomas. Both Milton and Solomon will have youngsters graduating from Westmoor.

Cooper, who lives in Pacifica, volunteered to award the diplomas to the graduates of the two Pacifica High Schools.

Bethel Girls To Capital Convention

The Missionettes of Bethel Church of Pacifica will be in Sacramento tomorrow for a Missionette Convention.

Mrs. Marilyn De La Vega and Mrs. Murle Jean Ingham will be taking 12 girls.

Each year the Missionettes hold a convention at which time they present a dime parade displaying special floats decorated with the dimes collected during the year by the girls. The dimes are used for various needs. This year the dimes will go toward helping the Highlands Childrens' Orphanage in Kansas. The girls from Bethel have collected over $40. They also have entered a float in the parade.

At the convention there will be election of queen and princess, the queen representing the girls Missionette age and the princess representing the girls Jr. Missionette age.

For the first time the Missionettes of Bethel have a candidate for queen, Miss Yvonna Wilson.

Unified Good Friday Rites For Pacifica

Pastors of Pacifica churches will participate in special services on Good Friday, at the Presbyterian Church on Francisco Boulevard in the Sharp Park district.

The rites will have a unifying theme, but will be divided into four segments; noon to 12:25 p.m.; 12:35-1 p.m.; 1:10-2 p.m.; and 2:10 to 3 p.m.

Nursery care will be provided at each of the services, the Rev. M. Douglas Swendseid of Bethlehem Lutheran Church said.

Pacifican Tells Guilt

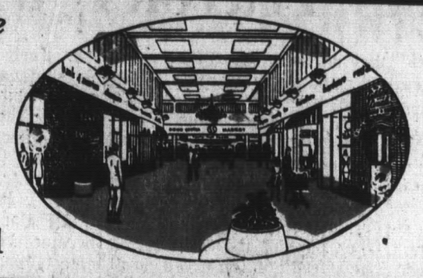

Lee Bedgood, Pacifica, one of five employes accused of taking coins from the U.S. Mint here, pleaded guilty Thursday to stealing $100 from the federal institution.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter set April 12 for sentencing on the charge, which carries a maximum penalty of ten years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Bedgood, 32, admitted he walked out of the Mint building February 18 with 400 quarters ed to cardboard wrapp

Scandinavia Greets Traveler With Hot Coffee, Assortment of Baked Treats

For more than 12 years, the "Sweden at Home" program has been in effect in that Scandinavian land, an obvious boon to thousands of tourists.

Through the program, visitors are invited to enjoy friendship, and coffee, in a typical Swedish home. Travelers have but to call the local "Sweden at Home" headquarters when they arrive and request the names of Swedish citizens who have volunteered their hospitality.

The news stories currently reflecting the program mention that this open house policy is not unique to Sweden.

It started in Denmark in 1945 and has spread to Norway and Finland too.

It occurs that no one hears travelers complain about getting the cold shoulder in the cool Nordic lands. In fact, it seems that in the northern countries of Europe where the weather is apt to be chilly, visitors always find heartwarming welcomes.

Coffepot on Stove

Is it mere coincidence that in these hospitable lands the coffeepot is always brewing on the kitchen stove?

Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Norway do, actually, each import more coffee per capita than any other country. Yet they were probably among the last Europeans to savor the dark beverage. Coffee was discovered in Arabia and entered Western Europe through Venice about 1615. It proceeded northward from there, reaching Paris in 1669 and Vienna in 1683, eventually arriving in the Scandinavian lands during the early 1700's.

There, coffee quickly found its way into Nordic hearts and homes. In lands where winter is long, coffee proved itself a noble friend. Yet the growth of coffee-drinking was not without growing pains!

Somehow, in Sweden, its pularity among the common people aroused the hostility of certain aristocratic elements. Long periods of taxation and prohibition ensued until, in 1822, authorities bowed to the inevitable, abandoning their futile efforts at coffee suppression.

For the Traveler

By the late nineteenth century, coffee had become an integral part of the lands' social systems. According to an account published in Littell's Living Age in 1896, one traveler, stopping by a country church in Denmark, immediately found himself enjoying Danish hospitality and coffee.

After the Sunday church service, the stranger was escorted about the historic little churchyard. But the hospitality did not end there. "From the church," he wrote, "I was constrained to enter a neighboring house, consume coffee and cakes, and hold a sort of formal reception that was, I imagine, hurriedly arranged."

In an 1893 article in Littell's, another tourist reminisced about "A Fortnight in Finland." "At Suonenyoki everyone was going to church," he related, "but a coffee-tavern was open to the sun-browned wayfarer. . .

What a site for an impecunious idyll! . . . After the exorbitant prices charged for indifferent fare at Petersburg, it seemed as if the polite proprietor charged nothing, and threw in smiles and goodmorrow gratis." Apparently even then, as they do today, the Finnish people could enjoy roadside coffeehouses wherever they went.

Holiday Custom

But coffee was not only a part of everyday living; it became the chief component of uniquely Scandinavian holiday customs. For instance, in Sweden, coffee takes part in the beautiful St. Lucia tradition, observed on St. Lucia day, December 13. This day, commemorating the good saint, opens the Yuletide season. Early that morning, the eldest daughter of each family dons a white gown and candlelit crown. Then, as the family's Lucia Queen, she carries coffee and the traditional lussekake buns to her parents in bed.

Baked Treats

In Finland, the "coffee table" became the traditional mode of entertaining guests. This was, and still is in many homes, the typical welcome to visitors on holidays and other special occasions, and even at informal parties. Three courses of beautiful baked treats are served, each accompanied by a cup of coffee. Though the coffee table is often modified today, the practice of always having a freshly-baked treat on hand lives on.

As might be expected, when Scandinavian people settled in the United States, they brought with them their great love of coffee and good things to eat with it. As they pushed westward into Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas to satisfy their desire for farm land, coffee was part of the precious possessions they carried in their covered wagons.

In the New World

Today, people in the cities of those north central states are noted for their coffee-drinking (that region has the highest per capita coffee consumption) — and for their fine art of baking. A Wisconsin friend told us of the Kringle Festival held every spring for the last decade in Racine. During the festival, the town celebrates the popularity of its famous Danish pastry, Kringle, with plenty of coffeet o go with it.

And Stoughton, Wis., with its predominantly Norwegian ancestry, claims the original coffee break. There on Coffee Street, unofficial name of Hillside Avenue, working women took breaks from their tasks in a local tobacco warehouse over a century ago. The women would leave in pairs to tend their youngsters, ending their brief rest period over coffee.

The coffee break has spread far and wide. Everywhere in the world, coffee is as sure a sign of welcome as a handshake or a smile. But the Scandinavians are among coffee's biggest booster—which may well account for their place among the world's most gracious

Apple-Date Relish For Family Meal

Here's a relish to round out a family dinner.
Shoulder Lamb Chops Potatoes
Snap Beans Apple Date Relish
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Caramel Custard Beverage

APPLE DATE RELISH

About 2½ pounds tart apples, pared and sliced ½-inch thick to make 6 cups
2½ cups sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 packages (each 10 ounces) pitted dates
¾ cup currants
¾ cup finely chopped onion
1-3 cup sliced crystallized ginger
1 clove garlic, crushed
5 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
Tabasco sauce to taste
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1½ cups cider vinegar
½ cup fresh or frozen lime juice
Red food coloring

In a large bowl, with your hands, thoroughy mix together the apples, sugar and salt; let stand several hours. Into a large kettle turn all the ingredients except the apples; add 1 cup water; boil gently for 20 minutes. Add apples and cook gently until relish is thick (about 50 minutes) adding ½ to 1 cup water as needed. Add enough red food coloring to give a rosy hue. Pour hot relish to within ⅛ inch of top of pint or half-pint fruit jars. Wipe any spills from top of threads of jars; add dome lids; screw bands tight. Makes about 3½ pints. Store for several weeks before using.

California Winemakers Use Science To Improve A 6000-Year-Old Product

For six thousand years wine has been a part of civilized man's existence.

It has come most of the distance from then to now as the product of occult circumstances, usually without benefit from science.

But a man named Louis Pasteur probed a bit just a century ago, and the strides of technology have grown longer and surer with each passing decade since.

California's winemakers were early to call technology a friend. They have yet to waver in the loyalty. Yet there is not one of them who will rely solely on mechanical measurement and ignore his own experienced palate.

Wine, although easy to enjoy, has astonishing scientific complexity. Its array of aesthetic values is even more complex, and entirely human. These two complexities are so closely linked that one of the world's foremost wine scientists describes wine not in cold quantities . . . but rather as "a chemical symphony composed of ethyl alcohol, several other alcohols, sugars, other carbohydrates, polyphenols, aldehydes, ketones, enzymes, pigments, at least half a dozen vitamins, 15 to 20 minerals, more than 22 organic acids and other grace notes that have not yet been identified."

The purpose of the simplest or most involved experiments is to enhance the aesthetic values for the lucky wine-bibber who gets to drink an ever better-made wine. There is hardly a wine researcher who is not himself mainly interested in the aesthetics when he is sitting down to dinner rather than his laboratory bench. It is that possibility of brightening his own meal by his own discovery that keeps the wine technologist a conscious servant of the final arbiter of good wine, man's palate.

Wine has to begin with grapes. So does wine research. Vineyardists, winemakers, and faculty members of the Departments of Viticulture and Enology at the University of California at Davis and Fresno State College are all deeply involved with vines and fruit. Of all the recent results of scientific poking into grapes, the most dramatic is the development of new hybrid varieties for special purposes.

The grape used to make California Johannisberg Riesling is a most temperamental fruit, historically limited to cool regions. Under the direction of Dr. H. P. Olmo, researchers at the University of California at Davis worked with several thousand Riesling hybrids. Out of all these, they developed one which has become a commercial success. It is called the Emerald Riesling. The wine from these grapes is crisp, fresh, and fruity, not unlike the Johannisberg, but with its own distinct character. The Emerald grows best in areas a good deal warmer than the Johannisberg will endure with grace, and so has opened large new regions to the making of Riesling wines.

Among red wine grapes there is a similar success story, the hybrid called Ruby Cabernet. After several thousand tries, one mating of Cabernet Sauvignon with Carignane was successful.

These are two wine grapes commercially important at this point as a result of hybridization work in the state. Another grape, called Gold, makes a sweeter white wine of promise. More new grapes are on the horizon. It takes some 14 years to find out if any one hybrid is going to pan out, and several promising ones are halfway down the road, or farther.

Good vineyard practices are important to good wine. Prosaic as it may sound, proper pruning — cutting off the canes of the past vintage determines in large part how many clusters of grapes a vine will bear the following vintage. Since there is an ideal number of clusters for achieving the best balance of sweetness and fruit acid for winemaking, the field worker's skill plays a real role in the quality of the wine. Dr. A. J. Winkler, an emeritus professor of U. C.'s Department of Viticulture and Enology, has spent a lifetime refining pruning techniques so the winemakers will have a headstart on good wine when the fresh-picked grapes come to the crusher.

The harvest and crush produce an annual bounty of wine, but the procedure is not in strictest terms an efficient one, even if the wine turns out to be of extraordinary quality. To get 150 Gallons of fresh juice for fermenting, a vintner has to have picked and hauled to his winery a ton of grapes. Then he has to dispose of a mountain of pressed skins and other solids.

Harold Berg, chairman of the Department of Viticulture and Enology at Davis, has been experimenting with in-the-field crushing and color extraction (the color comes from the skins, not the juice of the grapes), so all the non-essential stems and solids might remain at the source, rather than being carted back and forth. To date, each time he has tasted an experimental wine resulting from his work, he has said "pfaugh" or something like it, and started on a new approach.

He has, in related research, discovered a means of more efficient color extraction for red wines within the traditional method of fermentation. Some of the best of the experimental wines of this type have also had all the attributes of age early in their careers, seemingly the result of tannin levels.

One of Professor Berg's colleagues, Dr. Vernon Singleton, is discovering related ideas from another direction. He has been investigating the tannins themselves, and found that 11 tannins are divided in three parts. One group causes the "puckery" sensation associated with young red wines. Another appears to be neutral. The third group can be a source of bitterness. This group, however, is the slowest to get out of the skins and into the fermenting wine, and is subject to control, by using methods Berg discovered.

Other men, including Dr. A. Dinsmoor Webb, are working on others of the aroma-producing elements of wine. Their work demonstrates the nearly perfect completeness of any natural cycle. What they find in a finished wine often helps researchers in the earlier stages of grape-growing and winemaking.

For example, Professor Berg's field crushing experiments are aimed at leaving out in the vineyards some of the solids, which make excellent fertilizers and get carted back out at present. The ultimate goal is saving this step without creating any discordant notes in the "chemical symphony" that is wine.

Dr. Olmo, for his part, is finding out more about which grapes have which constituents necessary to make outstanding wine. He is increasingly able to create better hybrids.

Progress along these lines is advancing steadily. Already California's winemakers, in their continual search for excellence, start out with a higher standard than anyone thought possible as few as 20 years ago. The quality of their wines earns them the admiration of European vintners to the point that Old World masters are now sending their sons to California schools to learn how it is done.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT INCLUDES VARIED PROGRAMS

The Public works department provides a number of public and staff services through the several operating divisions. Reflecting the growth of the City and to enable increased levels of service, eight new positions were authorized by the current budget, making the total for the Department 81 full-time employees.

The Department is charged with responsibilities for day-to-day routine maintenance and services in addition to development and construction of new facilities.

ENGINEERING

During 1966, the Engineering Division prepared designs and plans for a number of special projects including the City Beautification Program, Southgate Avenue Extension, San Pedro Road widening and reconstruction, and for several City park improvements.

In addition to projects, the Engineering Division reviewed plans and inspected subdivisions throughout the City. Traffic regulation studies and building plan checking are also included in the day-to-day work of the Division.

BUILDING-ELECTRICAL

The Building-Electrical Division assures public safety and compliance to construction codes through review of plans and field inspections at various stages of construction.

During 1966, a total of 2,339 permits were issued by the Division for building, electrical and similar type work.

Although many projects started during the record 1965 year were completed during 1966, the nationwide slowdown of new construction was realized in Daly City in the latter part of 1966. The slow-down provided opportunity for the Division to review the building, plumbing, gas and electrical codes and to prepare code revisions and amendments leading to City Council adoption of the newest uniform codes reflecting advancements in the construction industry.

In addition to inspections, the Electrical Section completed a number of special projects including work on street lights, traffic signals and electric water system controls.

PARKS

During 1966, the Parks Division completed a number of projects in addition to the usual maintenance of municipal grounds. $42,000 of Federal and City funds was appropriated for City Beautification projects which include landscaping of the new Civic Center, planting of street trees on San Pedro Road, Westlake and Sullivan Avenues, landscaping of four reservoirs and pumping stations and improvements to several City parks.

The attractively maintained parks and public building grounds throughout the City attest to the continuing care and maintenance of the Parks Division. Approximately 40 acres of parks, lawns, and planting strips receive daily care and attention.

PLANNING

The Planning Division prepared application work required in the City's first request for a grant under the Federal Urban Beautification Act which resulted in a grant of $24,250 toward a comprehensive program for the City.

Amendments were proposed to the Zoning Ordinance to create an office commercial district and architectural design review district for use particularly in the area surrounding the new City Hall. These zones have been approved by the Planning Commission and are currently under consideration by the City Council.

The Planning Division completed work in preparation of the City application for a $70,000 federal grant to develop a comprehensive general plan program. The grant application is presently pending and approval is anticipated during 1967.

GARAGE

The Garage maintains the City fleet of more than 125 vehicles, performing all types of repairs required. Several City departments also call on the Garage to provide for their needs for welding, blacksmithing, fabrications and general mechanical work.

The Garage installed special equipment on two new fire trucks and modified the body of a Water Division truck to facilitate the installation of a hydraulic hoist.

PUBLIC SAFETY IS A 24-HOUR JOB

The past year brought continuing improvements in the operations and procedures in the two public safety departments. Training, study and development of individual abilities were given special emphasis.

Protection of life and property occupies the 147 employees of the Police and Fire Departments who constitute more than half of the total 282 full-time city employees.

BUILDING MAINTENANCE

The Maintenance Division is responsible for the continual repair, painting and cleaning of all City buildings. In addition, the division undertook a number of special projects including refinishing of the memorial building gym floor, painting and finishing the new Westlake Pumphouse, and construction of cabinets, mapboards, Ping-pong tables, and signs.

The Division also paints street centerlines, crosswalks and lettering on a continuing basis.

STREETS

Routine work in the Streets Division includes street cleaning and repairing, installation of parking meters, installation of street name and traffic regulation signs and maintenance of storm drains and catch basins.

During the past year, the division assisted the Parks Division in several beautification projects, graded and paved a basketball court at Palisades Park, and completed installation of reflectorized street name signs throughout the City.

WATER

Two major projects were completed during 1966 to further strengthen the Daly City Water System's capability. Construction was completed on the 5 million gallon-per-day Westlake treatment and pumping station. The neo-classic pumping station will be landscaped during the next several months resulting in an attractive facility.

The City also completed construction of a one and one-half million gallon storage reservoir and pumping plant in Serramonte. The station will have a pumping capacity of 2,000 gallons per minute.

Other activities during the past year included the preparation of design for the Rhine-Bepler-Shakespear Street water main improvements and installation of irrigation systems in several City parks.

FIRE

During 1966, the Fire Department responded to a total of 2,396 calls, actual fires, false alarms, and other rescue and first-aid emergencies.

In January the Department placed in service two new fire engines with 1,250 gallon-per-minute pumping capacity.

As part of the Department's training program, 34 officers and firemen attended the Spring and Fall semesters at San Mateo College, taking courses in Fire Science.

Many hours of attention are devoted to Fire Prevention in efforts to minimize fire loss, decrease hazards, and eliminte fire causes. The Fire Prevention Bureau made 1,604 commercial inspections and gave 26 demonstrations and 59 fire drills.

POLICE

With the rapid growth of the Department, special emphasis is given to training for all ranks of personnel. All new personnel joining the Department receive training in all aspects of police work from experienced instructors within the department. During 1966, in excess of 800 hours were devoted to the training of new officers. Supervisory personnel also received a total of 964 training hours in selected subjects.

This year the Police Department, and indeed the whole City, was saddened by the death of Officer Richard Klass who was shot while apprehending an escapee and later succumbed of his wounds.

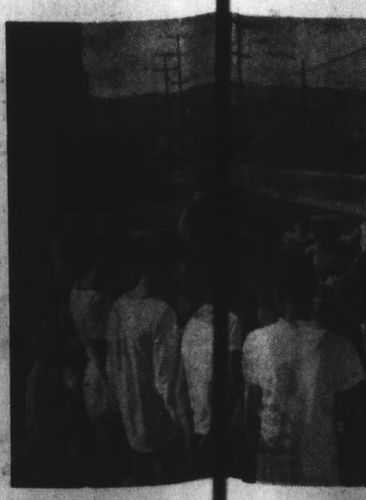

During 1966, modification was made to crime report formats and procedures in order to achieve a most complete reporting system. The addition of new equipment and devices enables the department to more efficiently utilize manpower and to eliminate non-productive time.

City Council and Fire Chief present Chief Cecil Knight of Madero, Mexico, with keys of a gift fire engine. The 1941 truck was donated to the City of Madero as a gesture of good will.

The $3,000,000.00 Civic Center is 98% completed. Public dedication ceremonies will be held on May 20, 1967.

RECREATION AND LIBRARY PROVIDE FOR LEARNING AND LEISURE

Individual education and productive use of increasing leisure time are the underlying concerns of the City Recreation and Library services. The programs undertaken by the two departments are developed to enhance the physical and mental well-being of the community.

LIBRARY

The Daly City Public Library places before the people of the community a large variety of printed and recorded material.

Under policies established by the Library Board of Trustees, the library provided 52,572 books, 1,694 phonograph records, and a large variety of prints, pictures, and pamphlets.

The library subscribed to 235 separate magazines and newspapers. Due to the high demand for periodicals, it was necessary to increase the number of duplicate subscriptions during 1966.

1966 showed a total circulation of 368,672. This includes 142,937 items to children and 225,735 to adults. Of the total circulation, 280,046 items were circulated from the Westlake Library; 70,867 from the John D. Daly Library at 6351 Mission, and 17,759 from the Bayshore Library. These figures show a circulation of seven times for each book or phonograph record.

During 1966, eleven book reviews were held in the Westlake Library under the sponsorship of the Friends of the Library. Three members of the Library staff served as book reviewers. Two special meetings with noted speakers were conducted by the Friends of the Library.

FINANCE

The Finance Department projects revenues and expenditures for the City budget, establishes sound accounting systems and procedures, maintains budget control and accounting records for all departments, and keeps abreast of the general financial condition of the City.

It is also responsible for the billing and collection of over 15,000 utility accounts which include water and collection charges received by almost every home in the City.

Purchasing and Central Services are two more activities of the Finance Department. Central Services receives all materials purchased, maintains an inventory of supplies used by all departments, handles the collection of parking meter revenues, and the printing of forms and stationery.

RECREATION

Under the guidance of the Recreation Commission, the Department greatly expanded the recreational program during 1966.

New activities added to the summer program included boxing, wrestling, girls' gymnastics, creative arts and crafts and an adventure club. Each part of the summer schedule is planned to provide new and broadening experience for the participants.

During 1966, the Department embarked on a new series of athletic activities sanctioned by the national Amateur Athletic Union. The very successful events have included a Judo Tournament, Wrestling competition, Cross Country Hill Run, and a Gymnastic competition for girls.

Special emphasis has been given to the adult program which was expanded last year to include a Horseshoe Tournament, Mixed Volleyball Leagues, a Table Tennis Tournament, and Senior Citizens' Field Trips.

The above activities are noted as highlights to the everyday program offered by the Recreation Department on its 18 facilities which include both schools and city parks.

PERSONNEL

The City's Classified Service positions are filled from Employment Lists established by competitive examination. The Personnel Rules and Regulations require that each candidate for permanent employment successfully pass a written and an oral examination. Twenty examinations were conducted by the Department in 1966.

The office is responsible for the maintenance of personnel records for each of the City's 260 employees, administers employee benefit programs, and maintains the Classified Service System by conducting examinations, updating job descriptions, and enforcing the Rules and Regulations.

CITY CLERK
ANNA OHLENDORF

CITY CLERK
The office of City Clerk is a focal point for public information and City records. The City Clerk and her staff act as registrars of voters and annually give assistance in the filing of veterans' exemption papers. The City Clerk conducted the General Municipal Election in April, which involved administration of 62 precincts and 186 election officers.

To accomplish an accurate flow of administrative functions, a record retention program is being inaugurated. Microfilming of key documents has been undertaken for the preservation and security of vital records. The central records depository will further promote efficiency and economy so that assistance may continue to be given with accuracy, cooperation, and courtesy.

CITY TREASURER
JOSEPH LEWKOWITZ

CITY TREASURER
During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1966, City Treasurer, Joseph Lewkowitz supervised the management of more than $800,000 in reserve City funds. Also included in the Treasurer's responsibilities is the retirement of the City's bonded indebtedness.

During the 65-66 fiscal year approximately $30,000 revenue was earned through investment of reserve City funds and was added to the General Fund.

CITY ATTORNEY
ALBERT POLONSKY

CITY ATTORNEY
In December 1966, former Mayor Albert E. Polonsky was appointed to the position of City Attorney after having served the City for 13 years on the City Council and Personnel Board. Vacancy in the position was created by the appointment of former City Attorney Paul M. Hupf to the municipal judgeship for the Northern Judicial District of San Mateo County.

The City Attorney acts as legal and legislative advisor to the various elected and appointed City officials; prepares and approves contracts, leases, and other legal documents to which the City is a party; and prepares resolutions and ordinances for legislative study and action.

BERNARD J. LYCETT
MAYOR

Dear Fellow Citizens:

The care and growth of our Daly City is simultaneously a trust and a challenge. Both responsibilities are shared by those elected as your representatives. Policy, legislation, administration of services, finances, and planning are some of the day to day responsibilities of the Mayor and Council.

City government is "big business." It is big in the services it provides; it is big in the number of people it serves; it is big in its responsibilities; and it is big in its cost. The latter is evidenced by a budget of $4,950,000 for fiscal year 1966-67.

A basic management precept in today's modern world of business, is that some resources should be "plowed back" in order to maintain a vigorous and healthy organization capable of performing the jobs confronting it. Particularly in a growing city such as ours, the need for capital improvement is one of prime concern and importance.

It has been the policy of your City Council for the past several years to give special attention to the Community's capital improvement needs and to plan and provide for them. Perhaps more than in any previous year, 1966 evidences capital project planning, financing, and accomplishments.

The accompanying financial statement notes that your City has fulfilled its capital investment requirements without creating significant municipal bonded debt.

We are pleased to present to the citizens, the stockholders of the municipal corporation, the 1966 annual report of programs and accomplishments.

Very truly yours,
Bernard J. Lycett

EDWARD FRANK
CITY MANAGER

Honorable City Council
City of Daly City
City Hall
Daly City, California

Gentlemen:

Submitted on these pages is a summary of the City's achievements for the Calendar Year 1966. During the year the City maintained its excellent financial position, yet included the most extensive capital improvement programs in the City's history. The new Civic Center, city beautification, major street improvements, and large scale expansion of the water system are only a few of the capital projects undertaken. Also, during the period all municipal services were expanded to keep pace with the community's growing needs.

The programs noted here represent goals and policies of the City Council and reflect an overall concern for the future as well as the present needs. Progress cannot be achieved singularly. Without the advice, work, skill, and knowledge of the 350 members of the City family, which includes officials, commissioners, and employees, this report would not be possible.

I would also like to extend our appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce, the several school districts, and the service clubs for their cooperation and participation throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,
Edward Frank

Versatile Meal Makers Quick to Blend, Saving Homemaker Valuable Time

For brunch or lunch or dinner, you can serve your family appetizing and nutritious one-dish meals made with dairy sour cream and cottage cheese.

These versatile meal-makers save you valuable time by blending quickly and tastily with so many other foods ranging from fruits and vegetables to eggs and meat.

Once you've tried sour cream in your everyday cooking, you'll know why this modern dairy product is so popular. Delicately tangy in flavor, it's satin-smooth and always uniform—a natural for sauces, salad dressings and desserts.

Sour cream gives a gourmet touch to simple recipes like this brunch-time favorite. Baked Deviled Eggs. Something wonderful happens to eggs when you add sour cream to the hard-cooked yolks and mix in a little mustard and salt.

Bake them in a velvety sauce of cream of mushroom soup and sour cream, enlivened with bright bits of pimiento, plus green pepper and onion sauteed in butter.

Cottage cheese is a family favorite 'round the clock because it tastes so good and is high in protein, low in calories. It's a perfect base for refreshing salads made with fresh or canned fruits or vegetables.

Cottage cheese can also be used in a variety of hot, main dishes. Taste-prove it for yourself with this Beef Noodle Casserole, easy to fix and quick to bake.

For a make-easy meal, you can't beat this combination of ground beef and noodles, zesty with green pepper and onion, creamy with sour cream and cottage cheese.

Skimmed Milk Has Most Of Key Vitamins

We know that cream is a product par-excellence in the category of foods. But what about the portion of milk below the cream line? We call it skimmed milk and it is marketed as fluid skim milk and packaged nonfat milk solids. Actually it contans the important minerals, protein, milk sugar and many of the vitamins of whole milk.

Mineral Content. A study of the mineral content indicates that skimmed milk is one of our best sources of calcium as well as an excellent source of phosphorus, both of which are particularly important in our skeletal structure.

In addition to these mineral constituents, skimmed milk supplies the body with limited but much needed amounts of chlorine, potassium, sodium, and magnesium, all of which contribute in some way toward bodily needs such as helping to build body tissue, regulate the reaction of body fluids and furnish material for digestive juices.

Milk Proteins are building and repair materials for body tissues.

Lactose or milk sugar is another one of skimmed milk's hidden treasures. Because of it, a daily consumption of milk is known to aid in keeping the intestinal tract in a healthy state besides furnishing energy to help keep the body active.

Riboflavin Important. Perhaps the most important vitamin of skimmed milk is riboflavin, required by the young for rapid growth and by the adult to aid in the utilization of food by the body. Fortunately, skimmed milk is one of our richest sources of this vitamin.

Abraham Took Butter

The word butter appears in the Scriptures as far back as the Book of Genesis 18:8: "And he (Abraham, about 215 B.C.) took butter, and milk, and the calf which he had dressed and set it before them." Forty centuries later, we're still offering butter, milk and tender veal, alone or in combination, for delightful eating.

Frosted Spice Layer Cake—A Finnish Specialty

A warm, delicious yeast bread casts its delectable fragrance around the room. Near it are rich cookies, a sweet, simple pound cake and a luscious frosted cake. And in a commanding position is a large pot of steaming coffee, ready to be poured into dainty china cups.

This is the traditional offering of a Finnish coffee table, the spread of goodies served whenever a special occasion occurs. Any occasion, a friendly gathering of Finnish neighbors, calls for at least one to three baked treats. At more lavish events, there are generally at least five offerings and often as many as seven.

To Finnish women, baking is no chore. It is a pure delight, a daily duty upon which they bestow pride and love.

Small wonder that the baked goods known to Finland are of such wide and wonderful variety. One of the most popular, and almost always served, is Pulla, the Finnish Coffee Braid, sprinkled with almonds and sweeened with a sugar glaze. At the traditional table, this is the "first course" accompanied, of course, by a cup of coffee and a cookie or two. With the second cup goes a piece of plain cake and another cookie or two. The third course is the iced cake. If the guest still has room for more, he may sample anything he missed with his fourth cup of coffee!

For your own entertaining, you might borrow one or two of the delicious Finnish specialties. We don't suggest that you need serve all of them!

FROSTED SPICE LAYER CAKE

½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon each ground cloves, cinnamon and cardamom
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups buttermilk

Cream butter. Add brown sugar and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time beating well after each addition. Sift flour with baking powder, baking soda, spices and salt. Stir in, alternating with buttermilk, beginning and ending with flour mixture. Continue stirring until batter is smooth. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until cake tests done in two greased and floured eight-inch round cake pans. Fost when cool with caramel, butterscotch or brown sugar frosting.

Milk's First On Food List

California's cost-conscious homemakers put milk and meat at the head of their lists of foods that give the most value for their money. Thirty-two per cent of homemakers rated milk as their No. 1 food buy "because of its combination of high nutritive values and comparatively low cost." Meat, bread, cereal followed.

Eastertime Season For Elegant Food

Eastertime heralds a new season—the balmy weather after winter's chill—everyone in new Easter finery—and in food, too, it's the season for renewal. Why not rejuvenate appetites with an elegant Beef Wellington instead of the traditional ham this Easter Sunday? A welcome change of pace for the family, this beef classic is a marvelous choice for guests.

A filet of Beef Wellington combines a choice cut of beef, liver pate and a golden crust of puff pastry. Make the crust the new and easy way with frozen puff pastry patty shells.

BEEF WELLINGTON

1 package frozen patty shells
2½ to 3 pounds—1 filet of beef
2 tablespoons brandy
Salt
Pepper, freshly ground
6 slices bacon
1 cup chicken liver pate
1 egg, beaten with fork

Thaw patty shells several hours ahead.

Remove beef from refrigerator several hours before roasting. Beef at room temperature takes less time to cook, shrinks less, makes more servings per pound. Place beef on rack in shallow pan and rub with brandy, salt, pepper. Lay bacon slices over beef. Roast in preheated 325-degree oven about 10 minutes per pound for rare, 20 minutes for medium. Use meat thermometer, if possible.

Remove from oven and cool at room temperature before proceeding. Spread chicken liver pate over top and sides of beef. Roll thawed puff pastry until very thin. Place over beef, trimming and tucking edges but not making a double-thickness anywhere. Brush pastry with beaten egg. Make diagonal slits in pastry. Decorate with cut-out pastry pieces. Place in center of preheated hot oven — 425 degrees. Bake until pastry is crisp, flaky and golden, about 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

Jelly Nests Ideal Spring Tea Sweet

Spring is here, the birds are happy, so why not turn up jelly nests for your tea.

Daffodil Cake Jelly Nests
Tea with Milk, Cream or Lemon

JELLY NESTS

1 cup butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, separated
2 cups unsifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon each salt, cinnamon and cloves
1½ cups cocktail peanuts, finely chopped
Currant jelly

Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in egg yolks, one at a time. Gradually stir in flour, salt, cinnamon and cloves, mixing until smooth. Chill dough at least half an hour. Pinch off small pieces; roll into 1-inch balls. Dip in slightly beaten egg whites; roll in peanuts. Place about 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Flatten slightly with palm; make indentation in center of each with thumb. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly covered tin box. Just before serving fill each indentation with a dab of currant jelly. Makes about 5 dozen.

Hourly Milk Cost Lower

Way back in 1940 the average worker in California had to work for 1 hour to pay for a bit over 7 quarts of milk. In 1965, according to the latest statistics, the same hour's work will "take home" over 13 quarts of milk.

So with inflation a constant source of concern for many, it is nice to know that the "real" price of milk continues to make it one of our best buys in top nutrition.

Its high quality protein and calcium are well recognized by nutritionists who stress that milk and other dairy foods are vital to our everyday good nutrition.

Easter Dinner

Nell Norton

Next Sunday is Easter and where did Lent go? How can we get anything accomplished when seven weeks rush past in a month? Or does this seem to be true only in my busy life? I don't really think I'm unique, for I meet other busy homemakers who tell me the same sad story.

Oh well, no need to complain about the accepted fact that "time flies," lets make plans for a delicious Easter dinner.

MENU
FRESH FRUIT COCKTAIL
HAM WITH BROWN SUGAR GLAZE
SCALLOPED POTATOES
GREEN PEAS AND MUSHROOMS
BUTTERED CARROT STRIPS
CHARLOTTE RUSSE OR FRUIT TRIFLE

WHETHER you are having a few guests or a full family gathering, you can't beat ham for an entree. Meat packers provide us with hams from the small picnic up to a full size ham, so no matter how many you plan to serve, there is a ham for you. Whatever your preference; a canned boneless ham or a full sized ham with bone in; baked and glazed ham makes a grand entrance at dinner time.

Baking the ham is no problem for all the packers provide clearly marked hams, telling what type they are and how much cooking time is needed to bring them to their delicious best.

Let us start at the point where your ham is baking and is within a half hour of being done. Then you remove it from the oven (if it has a rind, cut that away with a sharp knife) and with this same sharp knife, score it. Make diagonal cuts an eighth of an inch deep and about three-quarters of an inch apart across the entire fat surface of the ham.

Repeat, making new lines cross first group of lines, to form squares or diamonds. Next insert whole cloves, pressing each down into fat. You may put the cloves into each corner of the squares, or into the center, let your artistic eye guide you.

☆ ☆ ☆

TO GLAZE your ham, mix these ingredients and spread over ham, reserving some for latter application during the 30 minutes finishing period.

BROWN SUGAR GLAZE
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ cup pineapple juice

Combine the one cup brown sugar, one tablespoon mustard and one-fourth cup pineapple juice. Spread over ham. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes. Then remove and arrange pineapple slices, or whatever fruit appeals to you, over ham; holding fruit in place with toothpicks. Spread the remaining glaze over ham and return to oven for the last 15 minutes.

☆ ☆ ☆

SCALLOPED POTATOES
6 medium potatoes
¼ cup diced onion
2 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons butter
milk

Pare potatoes and cut into thin slices. Arrange in a buttered baking dish in three layers, one-inch deep, sprinkling each layer with part of the one-fourth cup diced onion, the two tablespoons flour, salt and pepper, and dot with butter. Add milk until it can be seen between slices of potato. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until potatoes are tender when pierced with a fork about 1 to 1½ hours. Remove cover for last 15 minutes to brown top. Serves 6.

☆ ☆ ☆

EITHER of the desserts suggested will finish your meal off in style. Both are easy to make, prepared ahead and chilled in your refrigerator until the moment comes to bring them forth to dazzle your guests.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE
1 package egg custard mix, 4¼ oz. package
¼ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
3 cups milk
5 tablespoons rum
½ pint whipping cream
8 lady fingers split

Combine the custard mix, one-fourth cup sugar and one envelope of gelatin. Blend in three cups of milk. Cook, stirring over high heat until mixture comes to a boil. (Mixture will be thin). Stir in the 5 tablespoons rum and chill until mixture thickens. Whip the one-half pint of whipping cream, reserve some for decorating, and fold into chilled custard mixture. Pour into 1½ quart mold which has been lined with the 16 lady fingers. (I used a springform mold, so it can come out in perfect shape). Chill until set, at least 4 hours or overnight. Unmold and garnish with whipped cream, maraschino cherries, I used both red and green and cut them into sections, drained them on a paper towel and formed them into flowers. The result was beautiful.

☆ ☆ ☆

FRUIT TRIFLE
1 can mandarin orange slices
8 lady fingers
1 package banana cream pudding mix, 5¼ozs.
3 cups milk
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon mace
½ cup slivered almonds
½ pint whipping cream
6 maraschino cherries

Drain the one can orange slices, save syrup. Separate the lady fingers and place split side up on wax paper. Sprinkle with orange syrup.

Break four lady fingers into pieces and place in bottom of a 4½ cup mold or bowl. (I used a pretty cut glass bowl.) Stand the remaining lady fingers around sides of mold, split sides in.

Prepare the banana pudding, using the three cups of milk. Stir in the ½ teaspoon lemon rind and ¼ teaspoon mace. Cool to lukewarm stirring frequently. Stir in ¾ of orange sections and almonds and turn into bowl, cover closely with wax paper and chill.

When ready to serve, top with whipped cream and decorate with the orange sections and almonds you saved and garnish with cherries.

Topics From Terra Nova

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Terra Nova's Business Department has been very active of Late. Recently various Pacifica city officials visited the campus' three General Business classes taught by Gary Thompson and Joseph George.

Mayor Harland Minshew, City Manger C. W. Masonheimer, City Engineer Ken Thompson, Recreation Department supervisors Richard Burton and Ginny Silva, Police Chief Neil Tremaine, and Fire Chief Edward Greer were guest speakers. They explained the functions of their respective offices to give the students an understanding of the services performed by public officials.

Another visitor recently spoke to the General Business classes and Mrs. Nelda Nocita's Merchandising class.

County official Gene Smith, sealer of weights and measures for the Bureau of Weights and Measures, explained the bureau's functions for regulating and inspecting weights, measures, and counts of all items for commerce in San Mateo County. It is the bureau's responsibility to enforce state laws on truck weights, packing, etc.

MRS. NOCITA recently attended the state convention of the California Marketing Club, composed of distributive education students and teachers from junior colleges. She also attended the high school Distributive Education Clubs of America state convention in San Diego.

Mrs. Nocita is looking into the possibility of establishing a distributive education club at Terra Nova.

Included under the "distributive education" category are selling, advertising, display, inventory control, buying, pricing, contract law, government regulations of business, packaging, and market research.

Business Department head Gary Thompson reports that this year the department will send out brochures to parents of all incoming freshmen. The brochure covers the business courses available at TN to help students and parents plan their high school programs.

THE TN Future Business Leaders of America Club will install an FBLA chapter at Westmoor on March 28.

Additionally the club has held its third annual candy sale. FBLA members had swept the campus armed with 15,000 cholocate-covered marhsmallow Easter Rabbits selling for five cents each.

The sale of the candy was part of an effort to finance their trip to Fresno or the annual FBLA state convention in April.

Jefferson Council Of P-TAs Elects

The March meeting of the Jefferson Council of P-TA's, under the leadership of Mrs. Jack Mitchell, council president, was held at 101 Lincoln Avenue for election of officers.

The new president is Mrs. Michael Kerekes; vice president, Mrs. Thomas West; recording secretary, Mrs. Eldon MacRunnels; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Peter Markovich; treasurer, Mrs. Frances Carey; auditor, Mrs. Don Meckler; and historian, Mrs. Alfred Parodi.

The council-sponsored drama, "Once Upon a Mattress," based upon a classic fairy tale, will be held April 1, at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at the Benjamin Franklin School.

The Jefferson Council plans to sponsor a "candidates night" for the elementary and high school boards.

Mrs. James Parker, committee chairman, will announce plans at a later date.

BROWN SUGAR GLAZE

Rain Brings 2nd Chance for Lawn

By IVA NEWMAN

The recent soaking rains have provided local gardeners and homeowners with two very opportune second chances in their gardening tasks. One, they have given the soil a deep soaking just as it is most needed by the new spring growth and they have made it easier to keep the needed amount of moisture in the soil by watering. Two, folks who didn't get around to feeding or rejuvenating their lawns earlier this year can do it now with truly quick results.

Almost a ritual for getting a lawn off to a good start in spring are just a few fundamentals. These may be "old hat" to experienced gardeners, but we'll take a chance on reminding them as spring quickens.

Seeding — many lawns grow thin through the winter, scarred by traffic or neglect of some from. A light seeding with a top quality blend is a modest expenditure, and even if none of it survives you'll still "get your money's worth" because this will signify that the permanent grass has revived so thickly there are no voids to be filled. This is also occasion to upgrade poorish turf. Introduce only top-flight lawn species such as Kentucky bluegrass, Oregon fine fescue and select bentgrass. These all appear now under the "fine-textured" heading on the seed box label. Persistent bolstering with such stalwarts can in time change the composition of a coarse lawn. When seeding a new lawn be especially careful not to introduce unwanted coarse-kind grasses, and be faced later with trying to get rid of them.

Feeding — the second spring requisite is fertilization, even if you fed the lawn last fall it should have another application now. The new lightweight lawn fertilizers go a long way; a bag so light it carries easily under the arm feeds 5,000 square feet. Typical modern analyses, for lawn fertilizers, are 24-9-5 and 30-5-8, each number signifying the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, in that order. Bentgrasses such as Highland should be fertilized every few weeks, but most Kentucky bluegrasses and fine fescues such as Chewings, Illahee and Pennlawn can be given rather light, once-a-month applications until the first surge of spring growth is mostly spent.

Watch for Drift

Weeding — Broadleaf weeds such as dandelion and plantain can be eliminated with 2, 4-D herbicides (including silvex and dicamba, often found in combination with 2, 4-D). Spring treatment is not suggested when it is windy, for budding ornamentals are very susceptible to drift. Oftentimes a weed killer can be applied along with fertilizer in a once-over weed-and-feed combination. Very early spring is also the time to spread a crabgrass preventer. If you didn't get this done by late January or early February, wait and use a material that kills crabgrass after it is up but, mark your calendar for next year for there are a number of effective crabgrass chemicals that prevent upwards of 90 per cent of the crabgrass seed from germination. But they must be applied exactly as directed.

Growth of Kentucky bluegrass and fine fescue is rapid in spring. Where old leaves have matted at the soil surface (this is called thatch), its removal revives the lawn faster. Scars heal quickly in spring too. Surface stems of bentgrass thatch more readily than bluegrass and are best thinned with powered machines called "verticle mowers."

Kentucky bluegrass has long been the most pupular and satisfactory lawn grass for private home use as well as most public turf areas. A recent Canadian research program has come up with some of the reasons for this popularity.

The Canadian researchers have found that one solitary Kentucky bluegrass plant, such as everyone has (or wishes he had) growing abundantly in this front lawn, is able to produce 272 yards of rhizomes in a growing season. This adds up to plenty of "spreading power" for it is by rhizome that bluegrass increases its coverage. A Kentucky bluegrass rhizome is nothing more than a special stem that grows underground for a certain distance, then turns up to become a new daughter plant with its own roots. It's easy to see how a single Kentucky bluegrass seed (and you get over 2 million of them in a pound for about $1) could, in time, account for many square yards of lawn.

Rhizomes Spread Evenly

Also, the Candian research shows that rhizome spreading is not erratic. Indeed, each rhizome follows a set sequence of growth steps. The quality of rhizomes, however, depends upon how well the bluegrass flourishes. If it is mowed afirly tall so that there is a lot of green leaf to make food, and if the soil is good, well fertilized, and if weeds and other pests are controlled, then, of course, there will be more rhizomes. These are the practices that spell a healthy, sparkling bluegrass lawn.

Briefly, here is how a rhizome grows. In response to darkness and accumulated carbon dioxide in the soil, it first bends downward away from the leaves, while twisting exactly 90 degrees. This is independent of gravity, and would be the same if the plant were suspended upside down. When less than an inch long it suddenly responds to gravity and grows horizontally instead of downward. The tip slowly rotates, like an auger enabling it to better penetrate the soil. After several inches of growth the rhizome turns upward, and of course, eventually pokes out of the soil as a new bluegrass plant.

Ideally rhizomess grow away from a bluegrass plant in all directions, like the spokes of a wheel. But as these become daughter plants, none of their rhizomes grow towards the original mother plant, only away from it. Thus the colony spreads in an ever widening circle. When the colony grows on a hill, the downhill rhizomes reach the soil surface quickly, while those on the uphill side penetrate more deeply into the soil. Thus bluegrass on a slope moves uphill.

One doesn't even realize that this sort of thing is going on in a lawn; it can't be seen, for if the rhizome is exposed it changes its behavior, and grows upward into a new green plant.

Fruit Plants Add Zest to Garden

There is always that certain feeling of pride and excitement when you serve something from your own garden. You don't have to grow a year's supply of anything but do have the fun of growing something edible.

Artichokes and rhubarb are two edibles that can also serve as garden ornamentals, and they are available now at a very small cost. The artichoke makes a shrub-like plant about three feet high and two feet in diameter. It can be used alone or as a low hedge along a walk. It is the succulent green flower buds of this plant that is such good eating. Rhubarb, is so tropical-looking with its red stalks and big leaves that it can be used wherever a tropical effect is desired or even where a strong contrast in texture is wanted. Both of these plants want plenty of sun to produce their edible parts.

Berries are another edible that does remarkably well here on the Peninsula. A row of the black or red raspberries against a hot fence will provide a surprising amount of luscious fruit. If your taste runs to boysen berries then you should string a couple of lengths of wire to wrap the canes about so as to keep them off the ground and make the fruit easier to pick.

Ever think of growing grapes? Some of the best grapes we ever tasted were grown in a San Mateo backyard. Grapes do better in California than any other state in the union and they can be made a very ornamental part of a garden. They can be espaliered against a warm fence or wall, you can grow them as a shrub by pruning them as the vineyardists do or you can grow them as an arbor vine.

You cannot expect a crop of either grapes or berries the first year: but you will get some grapes and plenty of berries the second year and the crops will increase with the years.

Women Aid Nursery In Landscaping

The Millbrae Woman's Club donated $650 toward landscaping the Nancy Nutting Nursery this week.

Mary Jo Karoa, president of the club, presented the check to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nutting Tuesday.

The nursery has been experiencing difficulties in completing landscaping around a new addition to the facility, and recently received an extension of time for use permit compliance.

The Nutting Nursery is the only facility of its type for handicapped children in the North Peninsula area.

Shade Plant Talk Slated

Members of the Men's Garden Club of San Mateo County, basking in the lingering glory of their very successful eighteenth "Ladies Night," will return to their Eveless Eden programs at their March 23 meeting to be held at Bob's on Broadway with dinner slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Harry Nagel, well-known rosarian and longtime member of the San Francisco Rose Society will be the guest speaker. Nagel's subject is "Shade Plants" but he is also an outstanding, amateur authority on the use of insecticides in the home garden and, of course, roses.

LOBSTER NEWBURG

Stretch that lobster newburg by adding flaked cooked fish. Halibut, flounder, lemon sole and similar varieties are fine for this use.

Decorative Carport Storage

Creation of good outdoor storage space is a pressing need in most homes. Even a super-size basement is no substitute for outdoor space, for many things rightfully belong outside the house and are far more usable when stashed near the yard.

Garden tools are a good example. Hauling those up and down basement steps just isn't sensible — even if the item is only a trowel. Any gardener will agree that the job gets done faster and with less fuss when tools are kept right in the yard.

Other things that belong outside include some sports equipment — skis and golf clubs, for instance — automotive supplies, and fireplace wood.

Now, where's the best stashing spot? The garage or carport is always a good candidate, providing it's designed for the job. Architects coping with the problem suggest that one wall of the carport be devoted to storage and designed with full-height double-door closets. These can open to the carport's interior or directly to the yard if protected by a roof overhang.

When closets open to the interior, the carport must be larger than standard to accommodate the opened closet doors as well as movement of equipment. A storage wall built at the end requires additional length, while one built along the side demands greater width. Figure a minimum of four feet extra, not including depth of the closets.

For end wall closets, it's also wise to include a side or back doorway to the yard so that equipment can be wheeled in and out without having to move parked cars.

It's easy to combine high style with practicality in carport storage. Closet doors can be built using handsome, hard-wearing 1x4-inch tongue-and-groove western red cedar siding boards.

The siding boards are screwed into Z-shaped braces at the back. Two screws are used per board at each horizontal member of the brace and can be set so that the visible screw heads make a decorative pattern.

Doors can be hung with surface-applied butt hinges, and gate latches with padlocks are a simple, sensible solution to hardware.

Garden Labor Saving Device

New since last planting season is a new rose care product that, in a single application, feeds roses, kills insects and controls weeds. The manufacturers have added a soil penetrant to speed the triple action material to the root zone. The ingredients, being compatible, are mixed together and packed in a five pound container with a shaker top for easy handling.

The insecticide particles go to work in a rather amazing fashion. After being cultivated into the soil and watered down they are abosorbed by the feeding roots and carried to all parts of the plant via the sap system. Accordingly, the product is known as a systemic.

The insecticide penetrates the plant in from two to four days. Protection against sap sucking insects that draw their food from the sap stream is provided for up to six weeks. The materials work from the inside and therefore cannot be washed off by watering or rain. All surfaces are protected, including the undersides of the foliage.

Two firms are putting out this systemic fertilizer and both products do a good job in protecting the new tip growth that is so easily burned with spray from insect damage.

His collection of wigs, hats and other props enhance a nonsensical, funny slapstick routine. . . .

Bruno Scatena Preems New Restaurant Site

TRAVEL TO DINING ADVENTURE in the new Golden Coach Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge located in the Fairmont Shopping Center on Skyline and Hickey Blvds., Pacifica. Bruno Scatena, one of the Bay Area's most renowned restaurateurs, has brought to North San Mateo County his second great restaurant — following in the dining tradition of Westlake Joe's, a Daly City and San Francisco dine-out habit for 11 years. Enjoy dinners, or a la carte selections of Italian cuisine at reasonable prices in an atmosphere of unparalleled beauty. The Golden Coach blends architecture of Old World traditional with modern styling . . . If the table cloths in the elegant new Wellington Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco look expensive — they were. They're made of the finest tapestry cloth and cost $60 each.

Lucien Sabella has once again "hoisted the flag" atop his Fisherman's Wharf A. Sabella's restaurant, for which countless numbers are rejoicing. This new, "out-of-space" restaurant, which includes a luxury dining room that is tiered for better table viewing of picturesque Fisherman's Wharf, a de luxe cocktail lounge, and a complete floor dedicated to the service of large or small banquets and special functions, cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. Your favorite menu selections and dancing to Joe Marcellino's orchestra are a continued A. Sabella's tradition.

Carlo Fasolo Opened Black Angus Chuck Wagon Last Sunday

Congratulations are in order: Carlo Fasolo, host and general manager of the new Black Angus Chuck Wagon (formerly the Gourmet Table), opened the doors of his "All you can eat" restaurant to the public last Sunday.

The introductory prices are really fantastic, as is the large assortment of entrees, which, of course, can not all be served at one time. But as things develop, each item in the advertisement will appear on the luncheon and dinner fare. One particular eye catcher is the fresh Pan Fried Chicken Ranch-style, which is a daily menu special. Ranch stews and ranch beans (just like the cow pokes used to enjoy from their chuck wagons at round-up time) are real palate tempters.

So join the crowds, and pull up a chair for some dandy chuck wagon chow at the Black Angus Chuck Wagon. There is no connection, food-wise or personnel-wise, with the former Gourmet Table.

It's no wonder this Redwood City restaurant is famous for its outstanding service as well as its superb food.

LSD Link To Cell Change

By GEORGE GOLDING

Use of LSD has been linked to the kind of human cell change that can lead to the birth of freaks with physical or mental abnormalities, as well as connected with uncontrolled abortions, New York and California scientists report.

Dr. Malcolm Cohen of the New York State University School of Medicine, told a reporter from the New York Times that the drug had definitely been linked with changes in the human cells which determine heredity.

Another researcher, in Los Angeles, reported that spontaneous abortions had occurred in two women habitually using LSD during pregnancy.

Dr. Cohen said changes in the chromosomes of users of LSD, had been observed in human cell cultures dosed with tiny amount of the "mind expanding" drug.

Chromosomes are the carriers of all inherited characteristics, he said, everything from hair color to size and intelligence.

Dr. Cohen emphasized that the type and extent of changes had yet to be determined, and that evidence of transmission to offspring was lacking.

Dr. Cohen's report was published in a recent issue of Science, the weekly magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He said the chromosome damage had been detected in cells taken from the blood of three men and three women. These cells were placed in cultures dosed with LSD and then compared with normal cells.

He said a team of researchers had found that some of the LSD-treated cells had divided and that the fragments had joined to form new and abnormal chromosomes.

Similar damage was observed in cells taken from a mental patient to whom LSD had been given in an attempt to treat schizophrenia, the doctor reported.

The chromosome changes were detected more than six months after the last LSD treatment, Dr. Cohen added, indicating that LSD may well have a lasting effect.

Dr. Cohen said that 2 to 5 per cent of normal chromosomes may be broken, at any given time, but that the LSD-treated cells displayed breakage from 4 to 40 per cent.

The same kind of cell division can be caused by other drugs, by radiation, and by viruses harmful to the fetuses in pregnant women, he said.

Chromosome damage is regarded in medical circles as the possible cause of the abnormal children born to women who were pregnant when they contracted German measles, or who took thalidomide a few years ago.

Chromosome damage is also considered a major cause of mental retardation, doctors said.

"If we can prove that fragmented chromosomes occur in the male sperm and the female egg, there may be definite possibilities that abnormal children are linked to the use of LSD by parents," Dr. Cohen said.

The doctor's research project is one of five being sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service to determine whether LSD, used with psychotherapy in hospitals, can aid in the treatment of alcoholism and neuroses.

The studies are being conducted at Bellevue Hospital in New York by Dr. Cohen and his associates; by Dr. Keith Ditman of the University of California Health Sciences Center, and by other institutions in Maryland.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.

If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.

A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.

Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.

Regular dental treatment will help you to have teeth that are both healthy and attractive.

Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Dr. Rafferty Seeks Funds To Campaign

Dr. Max Rafferty says he is trying to raise money to mount a campaign for the U.S. Senate. He's a Republican.

"I don't know whether I'm going to run or not," the state superintendent of public instruction told students at Crestmoor High School last Thursday in San Bruno.

"If I can raise the money, I probably will," he said.

Rafferty has often spoken of opposing Senator Thomas Kuchel for the GOP nomination next year.

Dr. Rafferty told students also to "begin considering the ultimate effects of the $300 million in annual federal aid to education in California."

"The problem of preventing the central government from controlling every aspect of your daily affairs could well become the chief concern of your lives," he said.

"I would urge each of you, if you have not already done so, to read George Orwell's '1984' and begin thinking about it."

Rafferty said federal politics, "whether we like it or not," are already involved in state education by virtue of financial aid.

In addition to the preservation of individual and national freedom, today's high school students are faced with four other primary problems "all of which have their solutions in education," he said.

"Education is the key to successful marriage, to a satisfying career, a full and happy live and also provides the only hope for survival of the species in the nuclear age," he said.

"Contrary to some things you've heard and read, the chief cause of divorce today is boredom," he said. "Marriage has a much better chance if the individuals involved have the culture and depth which only education can provide."

He assured the students "everything you have heard about the importance of education in achieving a successful career is true," and said there is nothing worse than spending a lifetime in a job one does not enjoy.

"Hell is a place where you have lost the ability to be interested in anything, and interest in things is the first prerequisite for happiness," he said. "The truly educated man is never bored, even when alone on a desert island."

Rafferty urged the students to choose "the often rather than road of freedom rather than mere security. The inmates at San Quentin have almost perfect security," he said.

In reply to a student query in a question and answer period following his address, Rafferty defended his actions during the student demonstrations at Berkeley in 1962 as "an attempt to curb irresponsibility, not academic freedom."

"Certainly the university community should have the right to free speech, but they should learn to use it," he said. "I would come to the defense of any university's right to independence within its charter, but I cannot defend irresponsibility in the guise of academic freedom."

Dr. Rafferty's appearance at Crestmoor was sponsored by the school's senior civics program, directed by Ralph Marinelly. Student leader R. Scott Harris issued the invitation to the state education head.

Cyclist And Passenger Are Injured

A motorcyclist and his passenger were injured Sunday morning at the Skyline Boulevard, Berkshire and College Drive intersection in San Bruno.

Police said Donnie R. Trantham, a Burbank serviceman, was southbound on Skyline when he made a left turn onto Berkshire, which is east of Skyline, then apparently attempted to cut across Skyline to reach College Drive, which is just posite Berkshire.

In the attempt, the cycle was hit by a car operated by James R. Nelan, 312 Camille Court, Mountain View, northbound on Skyline.

Trantham, 23, and his passenger, Tiki R. Walker, 580 Geary Street, San Francisco, were hurt. Trantham, police said, suffered a fractured left leg, while the passenger received a fractured nose.

Cow Palace Asks Racing Fund Shares

The Board of Directors of the No. 1-A District Agricultural Association, which operates the Cow Palace, has proposed a plan for the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition to share in increased state revenues that would result from new expanded racing dates in a proposed amendment to the California state racing laws.

"We have urged out senators from San Francisco and San Mateo Counties to support the allotment of additional racing dates to Bay Meadows, with a percentage of the proceeds going to the No. 1-A District, in the event this amendment is passed," said Brucato.

"The District would then apply the revenue to increased activities for the Junior Grand National, which annually attracts some 1,400 boys and girls belonging to 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America groups throughout California," said Brucato.

"The Junior Grand National, show which was held this year from March 18 through 22 at the Cow Palace, is the largest show of its kind in the world, and an answer to juvenile delinquency problems facing the youth in our county today," added Brucato.
